'We made it work with what we had'

Building compromises police services

Antioch seeks modernization of police facility to protect in a high tech world

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

There are 18 Antioch police officers, 10 civilian employees, and seven immediately available buckets in which to catch water that leaks through the police department roof during storms.

A proposed March 17 village referendum to construct a new public safety building for the police department could be expected to have a mighty fine roof. However, reasons to pay for other improvements may be more difficult to reach agreement upon. Law enforcement has changed more than Antioch's law-abiding taxpayers see.

During the past few decades, computers, complex rules of evidence, state and federal laws, mixed gender staffing, public privacy and safety issues, and the need for constant training to withstand court case challenges have created a new world for police officers.

"We made it work with what we had," Antioch Police Chief Charles Watkins said about the past facilities of the department.

However, time, laws, and technology have resulted in a physical structure that is no longer suitable for professional police work. As law enforcement continues to absorb available technology into crime fighting and public safety, old police stations become less suitable for future police work.

Police Chief Watkins said that the Antioch building was not built for police work. It is a structure that has been remodeled and modernized over the years as necessary to accommodate officers, programs, equipment, and police. "For what we had, it wasn't too bad," Watkins said of the 1970s era.

Remodeling and modernization have allowed officers to do their job and to keep up with village industrial, business, and population growth. However, jail security always has been a factor. "As the building has been added on to, the cells were always the problem," said Watkins. Now, state and federal laws restrict the options available to local village officials for modernization of the existing facility.

Movement of prisoners through the Antioch police station does not meet professional standards for public or police officer safety. Police information, evidence, and interview procedures are vulnerable. State law now requires that if police jail cells are moved, they must comply with federal laws.

In 1951 the village of Antioch made plans to buy a police squad car after many year's delay. Police Chief Walter I. Scott, above, had used his own car for many years.— Photo courtesy of the Lakes Region Historical Society, reprinted with permission from Antioch: A Pictorial History

"We incarcerated people overnight 211 times in 1997," Watkins said. That was 211 arrested people who passed through station areas where the public may be seated while they make general reports, file complaints, or ask questions. "It's been a safety problem." Sometimes, people are asked to leave while prisoners are brought through for evidence and "booking" procedures.

"Safety is one of the biggest issues we have to address," said Watkins.

Another major issue is protection of information and evidence obtained by police officials. People come to the department to discuss domestic conflicts or provide assistance for investigations. They do not want to conduct those discussions in public areas. "The area where we take those people is seven feet from the first cell," Watkins said of existing arrangements. Detectives might interview people a few feet from cells if private offices, including that of the police chief, were not otherwise

Watkins: 'If we are to be successful in keeping crime down, we have to be trained and trained properly' available, Watkins said. "It's just not laid out so it has places to conduct everyday business."

Training facilities are another area of deficiency. "We don't have anywhere for a training facility," Watkins said. It is a critical matter related to police crime solving success. He said that one of the first questions asked of police officers in court cases is about their training and preparation to do police work.

The absence of local training facilities contributes to the cost of training and limits the amount that can be done. "Dennis Volling has been very kind to us in loaning his training room," Watkins said of the Fire Chief. It does not, however, permit the department to focus on police training at a level necessary to stay current. The rules of evidence have had an effect on that.

Watkins said that in the early 1970s, a police officer could do it all. Now officers have become specialized and are frequently recertified in their specializations. "Police work has become very high tech," he said. "It's (now) a very specialized career."

"If we are to be successful in keeping crime down, we have to be trained and trained properly," Watkins said. By making training easier, cheaper, and more convenient, it increases the time that police officers are in the community.

Over the years, women have entered police work and demonstrated strong professional commitment to police service. "We are glad to have them," Watkins said of the department's female officers. "That is the direction law enforcement is going in." The Antioch facility, however, is not designed to provide male and female officers privacy when necessary.

Antioch mourns patrolman's Sergeant

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Popular Antioch Police Officer Bob Lange, 49, died Sunday, Feb. 1 of a heart attack in Nevada.

Mayor Marilyn J. Shineflug announced his death to the community at the Feb. 2 village council meeting. She said that he had retired from the department last fall after 20 years of community service.

Lange was hired as an Antioch Police Officer in July, 1977. He had been promoted to Corporal in October 1985 and then to Sergeant in 1991. He was a Sergeant when he retired from the department.

"He was well liked," said Antioch Police Chief Charles Watkins. "He would help anybody do anything."

Lange served as one of Lake County's most committed juvenile officers. He enjoyed working with young people and helped develop the Antioch Police Department's juvenile services programs.

Lange: 'Would help anybody do anything'

Watkins said. Lange liked to work that shift and did so for more than a decade.

"I think, at one time or another, he helped everybody in the department move," he said. "He would help anybody do anything."

Lange was a strong advocate of the concerns and ideas that officers under him brought to their work for the Village. "He was like a 'Patrolman's Sergeant,'" said Watkins. "He was liked by the people who worked for him."

Watkins said, "He helped us reform how juveniles and parents were handled as the laws changed."

"He's the only officer who requested the midnight shift,"

Love Fest sets sail Saturday

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry's Love Fest sets sail Saturday, Feb. 7, from 7 p.m. to midnight at the VFW Hall on North Ave. For more information, see page A11.

Post Office due in May

Antioch's new post office is tentatively set for a May 15, 1998 occupancy date at the former McDonald's restaurant location, 420 Orchard Street.

"This has been a long, long process," said Mayor Marilyn J. Shineflug of the effort to improve community access to postal services. "We have been working with them for four years," she said.

Shineflug made the announcement at the Feb. 2 village council meeting.

She made the announcement that the postal service will occupy the site with a 3,823 square foot facility called a finance station. It is expected that the new facility will offer better parking, mail drop-off services, and retail sales of merchandise.

The U.S. Postal Service will continue to occupy its current site. It will be used for mail sorting operations.

Fish derbies kick off winter fun

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Two weekend fishing derbies offer families a chance to bring excitement into the lives of fish stuck under ice all winter.

Loon Lake Sportsman's Association will sponsor its 13th annual ice fishing derby Feb. 7 and 8 from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. out of the Loon Lake Resort, 40132 North Route 83.

The 29th Lake Shangri-La Ice Fishing derby is Feb. 7 and 8 from 6 a.m. to 4 p.m. out of the community center at 22112 121st Street.

Loon Lake derby Chair Geoffrey Ziemann stated, "There will be over $10,000 in tagged fish as well as prizes awarded for the largest fish in each of the categories: Northern-Muskie, Walleye, Bass and panfish." There is a $10 entry fee each day, or $15 for two days. Children under sixteen are free with an adult. A donation to "Chef Mickey" between 6 and 11 a.m. yields a Sportsman's Breakfast. During the day, chili and hot-dogs are sold. Information is available from Ziemann at 847-395-8472.

Shangri-La bills itself as the "Biggest Little Fishing Derby in the World." There are refreshments, food, hourly door prizes, and fishing prizes. The first place winner will receive $1,000, second will receive $500, and third place will receive $100. Breakfast is served from 6 to 9:30 a.m. and lunch and dinner are served at 11 a.m. The fishing and cash prizes will be drawn at the community center on Sunday at 5 p.m.

On Valentine's Day weekend are two more area fishing derbies.

Lake Villa Township Republican Club's first ice fishing derby will be Saturday, Feb. 14 from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Crooked Lake.

Northern Illinois Conservation Club's 38th Annual Chain O' Lakes Fishing Derby and Winter Festival will be Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 14 and 15. It is the 38th consecutive derby sponsored by the organization.

Antioch sets April Arbor Day

Village trustees voted to set April 25, 1998 as Arbor day in Antioch.

Arbor Day activities this year will include a special planting of trees as part of the William E. Brook Memorial Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center. Trees will be planted at the entrance to the memorial site at Orchard and Skidmore Streets.

"That is where they will target their work this year," Mayor Marilyn J. Shineflug told village trustees.

Antioch has been recognized as a Tree City USA by the National Arbor day Foundation.

Arbor day was established in Nebraska in 1872 as a day to plant trees. Trees provide environmental, aesthetic, and economic values, according to the council resolution.

"I urge all citizens to plant trees to gladden the hearts and promote the well-being of present and future generations," said Shineflug in the resolution.

Civic Club carnival set

Village trustees voted Monday, Feb. 2 to permit the Annual 885 Civic Club Days carnival on Thursday, May 7 through Sunday, May 10.

The Village granted permission for use of the parking lot behind Ben Franklin Home Accents Store and near the Piggly Wiggly grocery store.

Windy City Amusements will provide games, food, and rides at the carnival. They will arrive in Antioch May 3 and complete set-up of rides and concession stands on May 7. The carnival is dismantled Sunday evening, May 10. Safety guidelines will be followed. Dumpsters and portable toilets will be used. Lake County Sheriff Reserves will be present.

POLICE: Will ask voters for new building in March

Antioch's police department building is not wired for technology and has no proper facilities to accommodate computers. "We're now getting Internet violations," Watkins said. "Everything is computerized." Records and dispatch is by computer. Possible law violators stopped on local village streets are frequently checked through regional, state, and federal records.

"Computers let us access information that five years ago just wasn't available to us," he said. Even fingerprint identification is now computerized. Fingerprints took several months to process a few years ago and now are available virtually instantaneously. Suspect booking procedures now include fingerprinting, and they are checked. It improves public safety and criminal catching, but it also requires appropriate facilities and equipment.

Chief Watkins stated that there are two major factors in successful police work. The first is public input, and the second is information. In each case, the existing building hinders professional police officers who seek to protect the people and property of Antioch.

ACHS soph seeks Aussie experience

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

High School students who receive Printshop Suite™ computer software for Christmas boot-up to get themselves into Australia. At least, Antioch Community High School sophomore Jennifer Kerner has done that. Maybe.

Kerner was notified that she had been selected as a student ambassador of the People-to-People program. "They told me the day before Christmas break," she said. Then she received Printshop Suite™ computer software as a gift for Christmas.

"I just love the computer," Kerner said. So, she put Printshop Suite™ to use to create a four-color fund-raising brochure. She is using the brochure to introduce herself to people and to raise money to meet costs for the three-week program to Australia.

People to People Student Ambassadors travel to countries around the world (www.studentambassadors.org/). The program emerged during the President Dwight D. Eisenhower administration. Student travel opportunities were added in 1963 when the first 16 students set forth to visit and learn about other lands.

In 1995 there were 8,500 student participants, and during the past 30 years there have been 80,000 young people traveling. The program is one of the few that offers both high school and college credit for the educational experience it provides.

"I'm very excited about going because I've never been anywhere out of the country. Australia is just an incredible place," she said. She talked with program alumni and they were very enthusiastic about the experience of travel to Australia and New Zealand.

Kerner is doing other things to raise money. She works in Bristol, Wis., at the Red School Cafe. Antioch Evangelical Free Church members are saving aluminum for her to recycle for money. She also expects to participate in fund-raising activities done by all students accepted into the program. Garage sales and car washes may help her obtain money that way.

"The whole mystery of Australia is intriguing to me." She is learning more about the country prior to her trip. When there she will meet government officials, stay with host families, attend local schools, and tour the country. After Sydney, students will explore smaller Australian communities. Then they go to New Zealand.

"I don't know a whole lot (about New Zealand)," she said.

Before then, however, she has to earn some money. The brochure describes herself and invites contributions be sent to her at Post Office Box 115, Antioch, 60002. "I am asking for support from business organizations in my surrounding communities," she said in her brochure. Others may donate also. She is trying to raise $4,500 tuition by April 30.

Kerner is a product of the Antioch school system. "I like Antioch," she said of her hometown. "I know so many people."

In school she serves on the student council, is president of the Sophomore Class, sings in the Madrigal Choir, and is active in her church youth group and Bible study. Basketball is her sport. "I've been playing it since 6th grade," she said. She's only been playing the piano 18 months.

Kerner is enrolled in four honors level courses. Currently, she is in the top 10 percent of her class grade point averages. "I used to be big into math and sciences," she said. "Now, it is law, English."

"I love to write," she said. "I love to write about anything." She likes writing about experiences of people and what is happening. She enjoys words. Some of her articles were published in the Antioch Upper Grade School newspaper, Apache Arrow.

Her mom is Cheryl Lento and her dad is Robert Kerner. She has a younger sister named Rachel Kerner. There are two cats, Smokey and Fluffy, and two dogs, Moe and Butters, in her life.

What do her folks think of her going away on the program? "They think it's wonderful," Kerner said.

Deli goes polish, customers love it

Antioch is gradually acquiring a very real and enthusiastically promoted Polish and German delicatessen according to Patty Ryan of the Olde Tyme Deli, 389 Lake Street. Sale-to-date of her potato salad has been previously noted in this space. Now her total sales tonnage is 3,730 pounds. A good amount by any measure.

"We were going to be Italian, but there are more Polish people around here," she said. The result is that she now brings fresh foods up from Chicago to sell. She said that her Polish customers love it. "All our Polish stuff is from Chicago." Cheese is from Wisconsin. "We do the fresh kishka and smoked kishka, hard cheese, smoked butt, and jellied tongue."

Ryan gets fresh pirogish from Chicago. She said her German customers are enjoying it too. "Anything that people want we can order."

She must be doing some things correctly. Olde Tyme Deli is on its third submarine sandwich give away. She expects to continue to give them away. Already she is promoting her briskets. "We're having the corn beef brisket for St. Patrick's Day brought from Chicago."

Antioch Junior Women's Club has available their $500 Community Scholarship Award application form. Copies are available at Village Hall. They are due April 15.

Any eligible Township resident who is or will be a full-time two or four year student at college can submit the completed form to the Club's Scholarship Committee.

Recipient's are selected on the basis of scholastic ability, merit, and financial need. Three character references, a one-page autobiography, and official transcripts must be provided. Recipients are notified in early May.

Anna Maria Sorla, of Antioch, is an Outstanding Young Woman of America. Her biography will be included in the 1997 edition of "Outstanding Young Women of America." She was nominated for consideration for this award.

Since 1966, the program has selected people between 21 and 40 who have provided distinguished service. This can include service to their communities, professional leadership, academic achievement, business advancement, cultural accomplishments, and civic and political participation.

If you have interesting information or anecdotes to submit for "Our Town" call staff reporter Ken Patchen at 223-8161, ext. 131 or e-mail, edit@lnd.com."

ACHS drama students creating 'Alice in Wonderland'

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Sometimes the language to direct "Alice in Wonderland" sounds like the pun-filled word-play of the script. Antioch Community High School drama students know exactly where they are anyway.

It is Jan. 29 and 22 days to opening Knight.

Drama students will present six performances of "Alice in Wonderland" as their winter production Feb. 19, 20, 21, and 22.

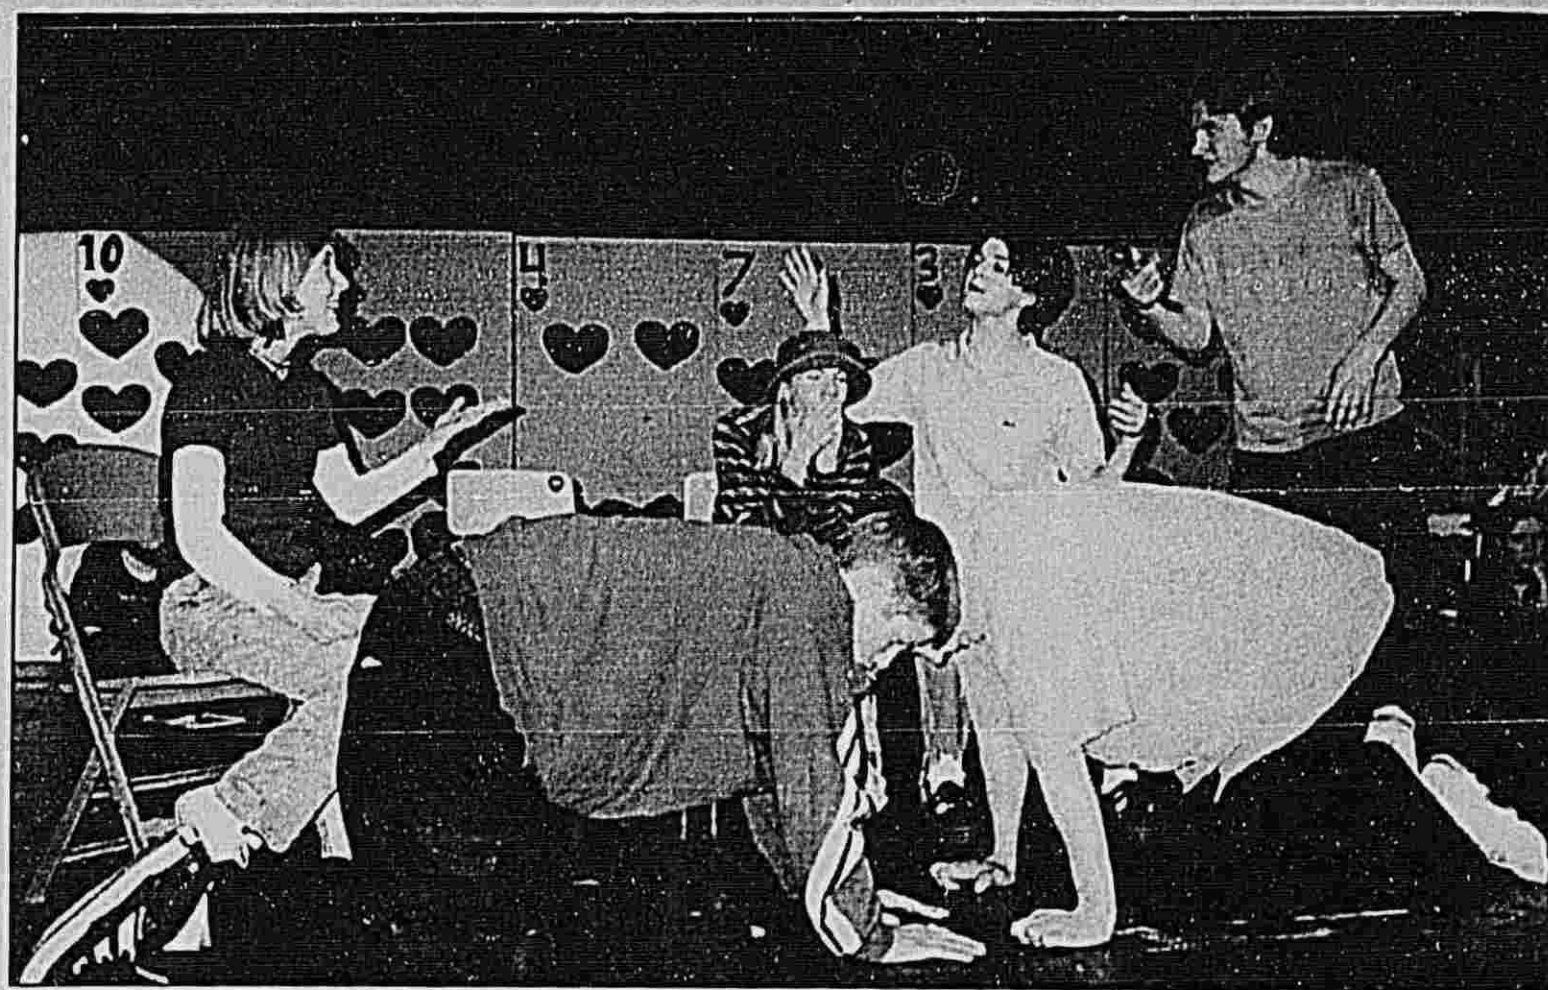

The cast plays character roles as well as scenery, such as a table, door, tree, croquet wickets or even a hallway.

"It's going very well," said Director Donna Shehorn of rehearsals. She is also the person who adapted the play from the Lewis Carroll novel. She said that it is a production in tune with the lovely, innocent days of childhood. No smoking Cheshire. This production's cat smirks.

"It's not a children's show, but more a family show," Shehorn said. Children are expected to love the playfulness of the production's scenery and characters, and adults will enjoy the rich language in the dialogue.

"We had a lot of people turn out for the show. It was difficult to cast," Shehorn said. However, she has selected a cast of both veteran performers and new arrivals. "It's a strong ensemble show. It will be a fun experience for the audience."

Thursday, Jan. 29 was a night to rehearse act two. Part of the scene is a tea party and part is a lobster quadrille. Mock Turtle Amanda Gannon sings and the scenery swings. Lobster drills have never been so... well, this rehearsal was noisy.

"It is absolutely essential that when you are running this, you run silent," said Shehorn. "You've got to be quiet when you are the wallpaper."

Later on she told the marching actors, "It's a regal procession. You're all cards." What a deal.

Earlier Shehorn told narrator Vita Gold, "Once they have achieved hall-ness, then you can say your line." Audra Waylander is the other narrator.

This was a night to adjust stage positions and scenery that moves. "We're beginning to incorporate props and set pieces and that always slows things down," said Director Shehorn.

Why pick this play? "I liked it," she said. "It's a non-realistic, non-representational play. We haven't done that in a while." She picks performer's plays to stretch them in new directions with challenges.

Through the evening she has more dialogue with her actors that sounds like dialogue from her adaptation of Carroll's work.

"That is your cue," Shehorn said to the White Rabbit.

"I can't hear," said Bob Rogers. "That's because everyone is talking," replies Shehorn.

The rehearsal, three weeks before opening night, shows spirit, playfulness, loose limbs, and a sense of humor. Shehorn says they are working to sustain those values. "I think they'll keep this improvisational feel throughout the show," Shehorn said.

At the end of rehearsal, the cast is asked if they think they can sustain their evident sense of enjoyment for what they are doing with the stress of an audience watching. They are all convinced that they will be just as entertaining.

It is a large group effort both behind and before the lights. Stacey Parrish is the stage manager and is assisted by Tim Gustafson. Dawn Fuller is responsible for the lighting and set design. Rich Meltzer is the technical director, and Steve Keown serves as an assistant technical director. Clint Ludden is on the technical crew.

Chelsey Mortenson, of Lake Villa, has the title role, Alice. There are two narrators, Audra Waylander, of Antioch, and Vita Gold, of Lindenhurst.

Cast members who live in Antioch are: Adam Armstrong, Lindsay Burke, Amanda Gannon, Clare Gaynor, Jennifer Groth, Brigitte Hefernan, Nikki Krupa, Bob Rogers, Nicholas Vandrush, Briana Walsh, and Ben Woodell.

Lake Villa area students in the play are: Josh Archer, Erin Boodey, Ben Garrison, and Brian Johnson.

Cast members who live in Lindenhurst are: Dan Emskamp, Eric Liebert, Lance Liebert, Libby Moss, Mike Nowak, Esther Scheurer, Jen Schuemelfeder, Kyle Scott, Katie Suhar, and Ted Welker.

Senior housing may open in summer '99

Antioch Village Board approves 38-unit development

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Construction of the 38-unit Tiffany Road Senior Apartments building will begin mid-summer if financing by private and public sector agencies is received. First tenant occupancy may be early summer, 1999.

Antioch village trustees voted Feb. 2 to accept a recommendation to grant a requested zoning variation that will permit senior housing at 885 Tiffany Road.

"Senior housing is really needed in the Antioch area," said Trustee Wayne Foresta during discussion of the recommendation before the council.

The Plan Commission and Zoning Board of Appeals voted Jan. 22 to recommend the variation request to the council.

Council action was based on a series of agreements recommended by Village Attorney Kenneth Clark and Planning Director Robert Silhan and accepted by Rick Baschetti of T&S Builders, developer of the proposed project.

Silhan reported to the council that he had reviewed the 1966 Village Zoning Map. He said that the property for Tiffany Road Senior Apartments was zoned R-5, a multiple family zoning classification at that time. "So, it's been zoned multiple family for over 30 years," Silhan said.

Silhan reviewed public hearing testimony and agreements reached with the property owner. "There was a considerable amount of discussion," he said. The discussion was about financing, deed restrictions, status of senior housing, and adjacent property impacts.

Builder Baschetti restated his intent to share costs to construct a sidewalk from his senior housing site to Lake Street. Village Engineer John Boldt will be asked by village staff to prepare a cost proposal for sidewalks in the affected area. It will serve as a basis for discussion and negotiation with T&S Builders.

work to resolve drainage problems that effect multiple property owners. His lights will have timers and shields to direct safety lighting to traffic areas and shield nearby residential properties.

Silhan's amended list of recommended conditions and those of Village Attorney Clark were discussed. They are contained in a Jan. 30 letter from Chair Barbara Johnson of the Planning and Zoning Board.

The village motion included conditions in the Jan. 30 letter, additional agreements related to the Village Engineer's sidewalk cost proposal, attention to area drainage, and light impacts on nearby homes.

On The Home Front

with
Larry Fales, GRI
Broker/Owner

DON'T TAKE IT PERSONALLY!

The better your home in Antioch looks while it's on the market, the more likely it is to sell quickly, and for top dollar. When you have a listing appointment with a Realtor, the agent will provide a detailed market analysis, along with the advantages of listing with his or her company. He or she will then go through your home with you and make suggestions about cosmetic repairs that will help to present your home at its best.

These recommendations can make some sellers uncomfortable and a little defensive because they are reminders of the "little" projects they have postponed. We occasionally encounter a housekeeper who has it "all together", but that's rare! Most sellers need suggestions about repairs that will make their home show well, and providing these is an important part of a Realtor's job.

Talking Health

ADJUSTING YOUR BLOOD PRESSURE

One of the off shoots of increasing health consciousness is a greater awareness of blood pressure. Most people know whether they are hypertensive and that less salt and more exercise can help reduce high blood pressure. Chiropractic treatment can play an important role in the treatment of hypertension.

Blood pressure can be affected by a variety of factors, including heredity, lifestyle, diet, and illness. Structural problems can also lead to hypertension. Abnormal cranial-sacral function, for example, decreases the flow and pressure of the cerebro-spinal fluid. The body's natural response is to increase blood pressure to elevate mechanisms, resulting in blood pressure returning to a lower level. Not all cases of hypertension are the result of a structural imbalance, but a chiropractic examination may be in order if you suffer from high blood pressure.

If maintaining your health and caring for your heart are important to you, call Round Lake Beach Chiropractic at 847.740.2800 to make an initial, no obligation consultation with Dr. Scott G. Reiser. Dr. Reiser has served the Lake and McHenry County area for over 10 years. Let his knowledge and experience serve you. Dr. Reiser's clinic is located at 314 Rollins Road, Round Lake Beach (Eagle Creek Plaza - corner of Cedar Lake and Rollins Roads.)

Fish derbies kicks-off winter fun

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Two weekend fishing derbies offer families a chance to bring excitement into the lives of fish stuck under ice all winter.

Loon Lake Sportsman's Association will sponsor its 13th annual ice fishing derby Feb. 7 and 8 from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. out of the Loon Lake Resort, 40132 North Route 83.

The 29th Lake Shangri-La Ice Fishing derby is Feb. 7 and 8 from 6 a.m. to 4 p.m. out of the community center at 22112 121st Street.

Loon Lake derby Chair Geoffrey Ziemann stated, "There will be over $10,000 in tagged fish as well as prizes awarded for the largest fish in each of the categories: Northern-Muskie, Walleye, Bass and panfish." There is a $10 entry fee each day, or $15 for two days. Children under sixteen are free with an adult. A donation to "Chef Mickey" between 6 and 11 a.m. yields a Sportsman's Breakfast. During the day, chili and hotdogs are sold. Information is available from Ziemann at 847-395-8472.

Shangri-La bills itself as the "Biggest Little Fishing Derby in the World." There are refreshments, food, hourly door prizes, and fishing prizes. The first place winner will receive $1,000, second will receive $500, and third place will receive $100. Breakfast is served from 6 to 9:30 a.m. and lunch and dinner are served at 11 a.m. The fishing and cash prizes will be drawn at the community center on Sunday at 5 p.m.

On Valentine's Day weekend are two more area fishing derbies.

Lake Villa Township Republican Club's first ice fishing derby will be Saturday, Feb. 14 from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Crooked Lake.

Northern Illinois Conservation Club's 38th Annual Chain O' Lakes Fishing Derby and Winter Festival will be Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 14 and 15. It is the 38th consecutive derby sponsored by the organization.

Can't medicine taste good?

With all the latest technological advances science has made in all fields of medicine, can anyone out there please tell me why none of these so-called genius inventors have been able to come up with a medicine that children actually like the taste of?

They have created liquids, tablets, gel caps and inhalers that provide instant relief for all symptoms of a child's common cold, flu or fever, but how can we parents possibly get these treatments to work if we can't get them into the child to begin with?

The Pringle household contains a medicine cabinet full of every name brand, as well as generic brand, of cough syrup, suppressant, and decongestant known to man, and yet according to the Pringle children, there isn't a single one that "tastes good." In order to get the stuff even near the child's mouth, you have to water it down so it resembles weak tea of Kool-aid and then it is about as effective as a single electrical bug zapper in the 100 acre woods. Or you try to disperse it in their favorite beverage, and it will come back at you across the table quicker than you can duck.

And, when it comes time to sticking to your guns, playing the bully, and actually making your child take the medicine, you had better have a bucket in one hand and the medicine dispenser in the other, because it's a guarantee that as soon as it even touches their lips the theatrics, the drama and the dry heaves will begin.

Remember, as kids we never fussed when it came to medicine. We were given that syrupy Vicks Formula 44 for coughs, St. Joseph's Children Aspirin for fever, and Vicks Vapor Rub was smeared on our chests and covered with a t-shirt for every other ailment whether it be an ear infection or an in-grown toe nail. And we never said a thing. We just endured the form of treatment and went on our merry way, because we knew if we grumbled, we would be eating the stuff. According to our moms that was even better than the external method.

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

Nowadays, kids are so darn spoiled if it doesn't taste like bubble gum or cotton candy, there is no way they are going to swallow it down their precious little throats. Of course, we parents certainly would take great joy in ringing those little throats from time to time, but that would just mean more medical bills and a visit from DCFS. About the only modern day medicine that tastes any good is Amoxicillin which is a pink liquid used to treat ear infections. But give your child Pepto-Bismol for a tummy ache just one time and you will never again have any luck giving that child the pink ear stuff. They won't believe you for one minute when you promise them the ear medicine is not the pink stuff that tastes like a chalky 3 year old candy cane.

So, after awhile, you give up. You have to just let the cold, flu, or virus run its course and maybe if the child gets miserable enough they will consent to taking something that is supposed to make them feel better even though it tastes like its been stored in the bottom of an old shoe.

So we endure their night time coughs, sniffles and fevers. And when we feel our tempers are about to explode and our compassion has run out, we have grandma visit—because grandma's never leave home without a full jar of Vick's Vapor Rub and a spare t-shirt.

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

Candidates Forum set for Dist. 1 and 2

A "Candidates Forum" for all candidates running for the County Board seats in District 1 and

District 2 will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the Millburn Congregational Church, Grass Lake Rd. and Route 45, Millburn.

The forum is being sponsored by NEAT an organization which represents approximately 130 property owners in an unincorporated area straddling Northwest Newport Township and Northeast Antioch Township. The area lies in both County Board District 1 and District 2, and is comprised of residential acreage, as well as large tracts of undeveloped land. The Lake County Planning and Zoning Committee has referred to this area as "one of the last largely undeveloped areas left in Lake County," an area where "we can learn from past mistakes."

The forum will give each candidate an opportunity to introduce themselves through an opening statement, answer two questions prepared by NEAT and present a closing statement. Following the formal part of the forum, candidates have been invited to stay and visit with the audience.

This forum is free and open to the public. We invite you to come and meet the candidates from District 1 and District 2.

'Hoops on the Oakwood' needs teams

Lakeland Newspapers, in conjunction with Oakwood Racquet and Health Club, is starting up a new recreational basketball league.

The league, called "Hoops on the Oakwood," will begin play in late February and run through April, with dates and times still to be determined. The level of play will vary some, but for the most part the league will revolve around recreational-level players.

The league will be made up of eight teams, with six to eight players per team for an eight-week season. The cost is $200 per team, which works out to around $25 per person. The league will get coverage in all 11 editions of our newspapers, with the champions earning a plaque and spot on Oakwood's wall of fame, where a team photo will be displayed.

All proceeds raised with the Hoops on the Oakwood will go toward the family of Alex Paris, a little Wauconda girl battling cancer. Referee's are already in place, so please call me at 223-8161 (ext. 132) for more information about how you can enter a team in our league.

Antioch grabs second place

Triplett's strong finish key for Sequoits wrestlers

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

When a second or third-place finish is on the line, Antioch wrestling coach Ted Sleckowski feels good when Justin Triplett is deciding his team's fate.

Antioch secured runner-up honors in the North Suburban Conference when Triplett, a senior, won the 275 pound-weight class.

"Justin sprained an ankle and came back and won the championship. He is about 90 percent. He wrestled well and did not give the opposition opportunities. This is the second time in two years his win put us over the top," said Sleckowski.

He beat Antwan Mackins of North Chicago in a pin in 2:58. Triplett brings a 14-7 mark with seven pins to the Waukegan regional Feb. 7.

ACHS finished the NSC meet with 169 points, second to Libertyville's 215 and four better than Stevenson.

The championships started with Ryan Hlinak winning at 119 pounds. He is now 25-2 with eight pins.

Senior Jeff Ultes was the other ACHS winner, at 171 pounds. He is 30-3 with a team high 15 pins. He beat Chad Blomgren of Libertyville 9-3 for the crown.

Several underclassmen came through as place winners.

Brian Backe was runner-up at 103 pounds. The freshman beat senior Mandy Thompson of Libertyville in double overtime in the semi-finals. He lost to Adam Ulrich of Stevenson in a close 4-3 battle in the championship.

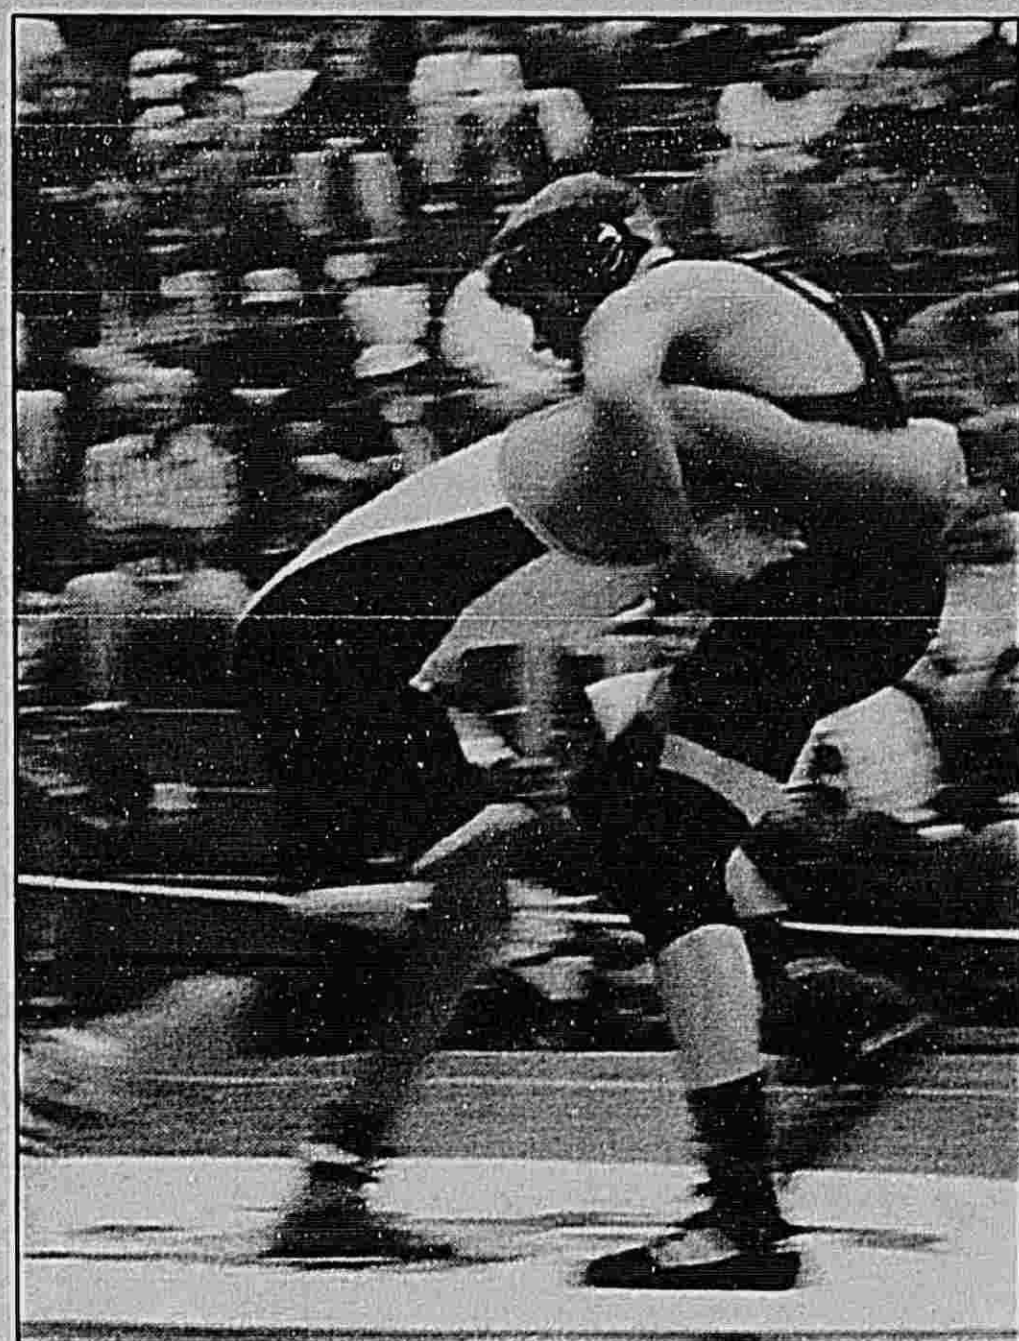

"When you wrestle someone as good as you are, sometimes it goes back and forth. It could have gone either way. Mandy and Brian have squared off in tight matches before," said Sleckowski.

Bob Grasser won second place at 130. He is now 9-8 with four pins.

Joe Brandimore took runner-up honors at 135 for a 27-4 mark with nine pins. He lost to Angelo Zografos of Libertyville 9-3 in the finals.

Nate Carden, a senior, is 23-5 after his second-place finish at 215 pounds. Art Brueggeman of Lake Forest won the weight class with an 11-4 win.

Steve Smart won a third-place battle at 189. He has also topped the 20-win mark with a 23-11 record.

Jason Bogaerts, a substitute, was fourth at 125 pounds.

"For a team with four freshmen we did pretty well," said Sleckowski.

He believes Grayslake, the Fox

Valley Conference champion, is the favorite for the team title at Waukegan.

Antioch's Dave Sobokowski is 19-9 at 125 and Mike Bardzinski is 16-16 at 135.

Antioch cagers turn back Stevenson

Increased intensity at both ends of the floor paid off for Antioch in securing a key North Suburban Conference win.

Antioch improved to 12-7 overall and started the week in a three-way tie for fourth with a 64-59 home win over Stevenson.

The Sequoits erased an early nine-point lead by the Patriots (4-15, 1-8).

"We adjusted on offense and we held Stevenson to without a point for a long time in the third quarter," said ACHS coach Jeff Dresser.

Senior Chris Groth topped his season average by seven with a 22 point outing. Sophomore Don Lackey had another strong game with 21 points with nine field goals.

"He is averaging 12.5 points and 10 rebounds a game. Sometimes it is easy to forget he is just a sophomore. He is playing better and better," said Dresser.

Brian Soldano tallied eight points and had nine rebounds to lead the inside game.

Antioch built a double digit lead by the fourth quarter. Stevenson fell victim to a 23-10 Antioch run in the third quarter. Pete Ogilvie led the way with 14 points, none in the second half. Darren McMahon had 13 for the visitors.

"They pressed and we worked the ball around well," said Dresser.

Antioch had a key clash at Warren Tuesday, the day before the sectional seeds were announced.

ACHS hosts North Chicago Feb. 7.

"We have 12 wins, but I do not expect us to stop there," said Dresser.

LoveFest's S.S. Antioch sets sail on North Avenue

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Southern Tropical Island habitat in Antioch in February is as close as Saturday night on North Avenue. Who could want for more after the cloudiest January ever?

"It's a great way to take away the winter blues," said Barbara Porch, President of the Chamber of Commerce and Industry. "It's good clean fun."

"It is a party evening for the community and the Chamber where you will have entertainment, food, a silent auction, and horse races," Porch said. "The restaurants are being great about donating food."

Wear cruise wear. LoveFest is not a formal event. "We'll have a funkiest cruise wear contest," she said.

LoveFest is a combined Chamber and community event and Porch hopes that people will give it a try and experience it. "You don't have to be a couple to attend," she said.

LoveFest sets forth on the S.S. Antioch, a cruise ship with a license to gamble, on Saturday, Feb. 7 from 7 p.m. until midnight at the VFW Hall on North Avenue in Antioch.

Six people will win a Weekend Get Away prize. Tickets are sold at 4 for $10, or $3 each. Area banks and the Chamber of Commerce and Industry office also have tickets available now. A mini-roulette wheel and VFW Hall's lucky chance pull tabs will also be available.

A Starlight Lounge will feature music by the Scotch Lads in a return performance.

There is Palmer's Shipwreck Tavern for those who wish to buy beverages.

Barns speak of life

Long Grove photographer teams up with Liberty Prairie Foundation to help save Lake County's barns and their heritage

Above, photographer Nancy Burgess outside a barn at the Long Grove Country School. She is writing and illustrating a book on the barns of Lake County in an effort to preserve their heritage. Proceeds from a poster and the book will be used to provide grants to owners of the barns to help preserve them. By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Lake County barns do not talk, but they have much to say.

Nancy Burgess has set forth with her camera and pen to record what barns say about life in Lake County. By holding still, the barns have contributed photographs to her effort to save their lives.

"My point is to help preserve them in some way," said Long Grove photographer and writer Nancy Burgess. To achieve that goal, she has published six photographs as a poster of Lake County Barns. Revenue from poster sales and a subsequent book, "The Barns of Lake County," will be used to provide grants to owners of barns to help preserve them.

Initial financial support for the Lake County Save-A-Barn program has been provided by the Liberty Prairie Foundation. Copies of the poster are available for $15 from Save-A-Barn, 5603 RFD, Long Grove, Illinois, 60047. Barns shown on the poster are from Gurnee, Lake Forest, Long Grove, Barrington Hills, Wadsworth, and Lincolnshire.

"I started this project because I was taking photographs for the Long Grove calendar," Burgess said. She decided to do barns and then just kept going. When she started the project, she realized that she wanted to benefit more than just a publisher. She wanted to help the barns.

She gives another Lake County barn historian, Rick Bott, credit for helping her to hear what barns say. "They all have their own character," she said. Barns were built by families or by the community. "They were built with care."

"With each barn comes all the hopes and dreams of the families," Burgess said. "There is a spirit in them, even the crumbling ones."

When she tells people about her work with barns, they have a special interest in her work. She has found this to be true even for people who live in cities. "(Barns) definitely inspire emotions in everybody."

Rick Bott, of R&B Enterprises in Libertyville, has 20 years experience as a barn preservation specialist. Burgess said, "He is my architectural expert." He has helped her to learn how to read some of the history of a barn.

"Rick Bott told me that when the family goes, the barn begins to decay." She said that something is missing from the life of the barn. There are no cats around, there are no animals. There is no use of it. Barns were used for food storage, crop storage. Farm equipment was stored in them. Children would play in them. "There were plenty of adventures." For children, she said, it was a main source of entertainment.

Burgess said that families originally put their money into creating and maintaining a barn. Then they would invest in the home. The barn was most important. The barns were built on the best ground. Water drained away from them. Roofs were kept up. Foundations were kept up.

"It's generally the foundation or the roof," Burgess said. Roof holes can begin to rot within five years. Foundations crumble and the stress on the building causes them to sag.

KID'S FARE

Bears: Imagination and Reality is new exhibit at Milwaukee zoo

The newest special exhibit to open at the Milwaukee County Zoo has arrived. "Bears: Imagination and Reality" sponsored by Wisconsin Electric/A Wisconsin Energy Company, runs through May 3.

"Bears: Imagination and Reality" was produced by the Science Museum of Minnesota. This is the nation's first major traveling exhibit to highlight grizzlies and black bears as North America's most powerful symbols of wilderness. The exhibit examines both the myth and reality surrounding bears by presenting animal behavior, medicine, natural history and wildlife management.

Images of the bear in different cultures of the northern hemisphere, from prehistoric times to the present, will be contrasted with the current science and natural history of the bears. Bear objects, specimens, interactive displays, film, video and contemporary research findings are brought together, uniquely in the exhibit.

Twenty-six mounts are displayed in a natural, fun and educational manner. Life-like recreations include: Grizzly bear mount in rock surround, Grizzly bear behavior: Sudden Encounters, A Black bear habitat, Black bear mother and cubs, Hibernation, Wilderness and People: A Grizzly bear habitat.

Other highlights include: American Indian bear artwork, objects and artifacts, Mesquaki grizzly bear necklace, Kwakiutl transformation dance costume, grizzly habitat management games, examples of our culture's fascination with fanciful bear images and objects, bear hides, skulls, teeth and paws, videos on bear behavior and food habits. View a bear trap, a grizzly bear rug, a set gun, historical photos and replicas of the first teddies created.

For the youngsters or young at heart, the biggest highlight is to take a seat on the nine-foot long by eight-foot high "teddy bear couch."

"Bears: Imagination and Reality" is open daily at no additional fee and is located in the Otto Borchert Family Special Exhibits Building.

Zoo hours are 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily. Beginning May 1, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday, until 6 p.m. Sunday and holidays. Regular zoo admission rates apply.

For more information, call the Public Affairs and Services Division at (414) 256-5412.

Creating a private garden

As you may have already guessed, I have a passion for the garden. One thing I have always longed for, is a totally private space that I can go to and get away from it all, and hide there, among my flowers. Up until now, it's been a huge flat rock that I have propped against my shed facing the wildflower and perennial garden. The rock is okay, but not very comfortable. So, the plan is to create my own private garden retreat this coming spring.

I feel fortunate because I do have quite a bit of space that I can work with, but you can create a quiet spot easily, a hammock or comfy chair propped under a large tree, will do. If you have an inviting deck presently, you can make it even more so by incorporating many of your favorite plants to thrive there. I like to grow herbs that I use frequently in pots right outside my kitchen door. This way if the weather is foreboding or I'm tired, and do not feel like walking out into the garden I can snip the herbs I need for cooking without any effort at all.

To get back to that special place—I have a weathered garden bench, that has been sitting in my garage collecting dust, because I just wasn't sure where I wanted it. It will be part of my garden nook. Behind my garage is where I grow my vegetables, and I have added a perennial and annual flower garden there. I also have a few apple trees there, in which I have hung garden chimes, I think this would be a great place for my garden retreat. I am going to set up some bird feeders there also, and I'm thinking of putting a bird bath in as well. I seriously cannot think of a better way to relax, than spending a few moments or (if time is available) a few hours among plants and birdlife.

When you are planning your own special garden retreat think about when you will be able to spend time there, and what you would like to do. It can be as simple as just relaxing and soaking in the beauty of nature, a place for sipping coffee and reading a great book, or a place for you and your friends and family to gather. Do you want to include outdoor furniture and a grill and entertain there? Or is it going to be a few comfy chairs and a pagoda in which to retreat? List your priorities and go with them.

Use flowers and herbs that give off fragrant scents, investigate which ones are soothing to your senses and use them. There are certain times of the day when certain species give off their fragrance. Find out about them, and use those that you like and work with the time you will be there the most. Have fun with the whole plan, do what appeals to you, and gives you the most serenity. That's what it is all about, this should be a place that gives you enjoyment and pleasure. I never feel closer to God and to who I really am, anywhere else, as I do while reflecting upon my garden. Peace.

Karla Kostinen is the "Madwoman of Chaillot."

'Madwoman of Chaillot'

With a cast of more than 20, a spectacular set, and the ambiance of Paris, this production promises to be one of the best shows to ever grace the Drake stage.

"Madwoman" opens on Feb. 20 at 8 p.m. and continues for two more performances on Feb. 21 at 8 p.m. and a

As they say in Washington, 'It's good to be the king'

In keeping with the upcoming Valentine holiday, today's subject matter is: How to make your man feel like a king.

And while we're on the subject of the White House (oops - how did that happen?), I feel it's time I made a public statement in order to prevent any possibility of my receiving a subpoena from Mr. Starr. For those of you who just woke up from a coma and haven't heard of him, he is the independent counsel who is currently holding a "Starr Search" for any woman the President has ever come within 200 feet of. I believe he also just signed on as the lead actor in the upcoming film, "Ernest Goes Undercover in the White House."

LIFE'S A BEAR

Donna Abear

Come to think of it, he may also be the man who invented the game, "The Seven Degrees of President Clinton." This game is based on the belief that by starting with any woman's name ("Linda Tripp," for example), and connecting her with someone else, in no more than seven connections it will lead to the name of a woman who has allegedly had a sexual encounter with President Clinton. I hear this game's a big hit with the Republicans right now.

Anyway, for the record, here's my statement:

I, Donna Abear, was in Seattle in 1996 during the President and Vice President's campaign visit. However, at no time did I get any closer to the President than 200 hundred feet. Make that 201 feet. And while my hotel room was directly across the street from his, he never so much as winked in my direction. This despite the fact that I was hanging out the window, trying to attract him by wearing a McDonald's hamburger in my cleavage. (Just kidding, sir.)

Of course, I can't be 100 percent sure whether or not a wink occurred, because when you're my age, it's difficult to see anyone wink unless you're wearing prescription glasses. In fact, I can't even be sure I saw President Clinton - maybe it was Vice President Gore, in which case I definitely wasted that hamburger. He's more the frozen food type.

In closing, let me state emphatically - I don't think we had a sexual relationship.

There. That should put any doubts about me to rest so that we can concentrate on our real subject - How do you make a man happy, not only on Valentine's Day but the whole year through?

The answer: Get him an intern. No, sorry, that's not the answer. It was just a slip of the tongue, something the TV newspeople would call a "CRISIS IN MY BRAIN".

The real answer, the thing that is guaranteed to make your man happy is...A RECLINER. But not for the reason you might think.

While we women see a recliner as a place for our man to enjoy imitating a slug on downers, men see it entirely different. To the average man, a recliner is a THRONE. And when a man sits in his throne, he feels like a KING.

Of course, kings had it a lot better in the old days. They'd sit up there on their throne, and whenever they wanted a woman or felt like throwing someone to the lions, they'd just snap their fingers and it would be done.

Unfortunately, women's liberation has robbed the average man of his power base. Men who can snap their fingers and make women do their bidding have become rare since "Happy Days" went off the air.

And that is why a recliner, complete with a remote control in the side pocket, is so important to a 90's man's ego. It instills in him that old feeling of POWER. There, from his throne, he can control, if not his wife, at least his television, by simply pushing a button: "Click - Be gone General Hospital - I want Sports Channel! Click - Give me an Old John Wayne movie! Now!"

So, take my advice - buy your husband a recliner this Valentine's Day. As any man will tell you, "it's good to be the king".

Unfortunately, I don't think that will help Hillary. It's obvious the President already has too many recliners.

Instead, she may want to get his remote control repaired. I think it's stuck on "The Spice Channel".

Questions or comments for humorist Donna Abear can be sent to Lakeland Newspapers, 30 S. Whitney St., Grayslake, IL 60030.

The Poconos, Pennsylvania's Honeymoon Hills

by JIM WARNKEN

President, North Star Travel

Way back in the 1930's the first resort exclusively for honeymooners opened in the Pocono Mountains. This setting of low hills, meandering streams and cool waterfalls have attracted newlyweds for over 50 years. But what would our grandparents, who may have spent their own honeymoon here, think of the private in-room swimming pools, translucent champagne glass shaped bathtubs, mirrored ceilings and heart shaped hot tubs found in the Pocono Resorts of today? I believe mine would have loved it!

With anything from Swiss chalets with canopied beds and braided rugs to sexy, multi-leveled suites with round, velvet-covered beds and crystal chandeliers, you may never want to venture outside. But even on a honeymoon, that would be a mistake with all the Poconos have to offer.

You may wish to explore the winding paths leading to cool mountain brooks and waterfalls. Hop in a paddle boat or canoe to explore the several lakes. Take your pick of tennis courts or a round of golf.

It really doesn't matter what time of year you decide to honeymoon. The Poconos have something to offer year round. Summer is warm enough for water sports, but the mountains always provide a cooling breeze. Autumn is ideal for hiking or horseback riding through a rainbow of forest colors. In the winter snowmobiling, tobogganing, sledding, and of course super skiing on the slopes at Camelback.

One great advantage of the Pocono Resorts is that they are all inclusive. That is, you pay one price before you get there which includes your meals, your accommodations, and all sorts of land and lake sports and the equipment you need to enjoy them. Your bar bill is, however, not included.

So if Hawaii or a cruise may be out of your budget, give the Poconos a try and save the more costly vacation for a first anniversary.

Fireside chat with FDR

American history will come to life at a special program on Thursday, Feb. 12 at 7 p.m., at the Civic Center in Libertyville. The Friends of Cook Memorial Library have invited historical dramatist R.J. Lindsey who will do an informal portrayal of Franklin D. Roosevelt, touching upon many aspects of the President's life. Registration is required by calling the Library at 362-2330.

MOVIE PICK

'Expectations' not great

When will Hollywood stop fooling with the perfection of literature's classics? We suffered through Leonardo DiCaprio's punk rock "Romeo and Juliet," and now they've updated one of Charles Dickens' most enjoyable works "Great Expectations" to please the young crowd.

This murder of literary king of England's 19th century changes the plot and the characters to such an extent that if we hadn't been informed of the connection by the pre-publicity and the name we would have never recognized one of our favorite stories.

No more do we have a poor lad named Pip who tries to rise above his poor class, seek his fortune in London and win his childhood love. He is aided by money he thinks comes from a Miss Havisham, only to find out later it's a very scary character he helped as a child.

In the new version we have a poor artist, Finn, played by Ethan Hawke leaving the fishing village he was raised in to seek success in the "Big Apple." He spends too many years mourning the loss of his childhood love played by Gwyneth Paltrow and when he finally gets a gallery show he regains her love amidst a lot of craziness and debauchery.

Robert DiNiro, who plays the convict Finn, whom he helped when a child and who turns out to be his benefactor later, is the only character in the new version that shows any depth at all. Anne Bancroft, today's version of the bitter Miss Havisham, borders on the vulgar, a performance not worthy of an actress of her caliber.

Hawke, who is no stranger to good acting, turns in a weak and whiny performance and in trying to be all "today," Paltrow's character is much too commercial.

The real star of the show is the camera that turns out scenic masterpiece after masterpiece, whether it's the quaint fishing village or the glittering island of Manhattan.

We give this renovated "Great Expectations" 2.5 out of five stars on the basis of its great cinematography.—By Gloria Davis

Gwyneth Paltrow and Ethan Hawke star in "Great Expectations."

Win free dinners for knowing your presidential history

Flatlander's Restaurant and Brewery, Lincolnshire, is using history to offer $20 in food coupons for President's Day, Feb. 16, to four people who accurately answer all of the ten questions below about George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

People who want to enter should get their entry coupon at the restaurant, 200 Village Green, Lincolnshire, IL 60069 and return it by Feb. 15 (or mail this article with the answers to the above address).

The questions are:

1. What was the name, city and location of the building where Abraham Lincoln was nominated for president?

2. Did George Washington own slaves?

3. When Lincoln was nominated for President, what city was he in?

4. Washington on a wintery night with his soldiers crossed what river to win an important battle against the English army?

5. Lincoln made a speech of only a few hundred words that will go down in history. What is this speech called?

6. Legend says that Washington cut down a tree that upset his father. What kind of tree was it?

7. A Milwaukee and Illinois newspaper reporter wrote the famous biography of Lincoln that won the author the Pulitzer Prize. Who was the author?

8. Washington on what date and under what kind of tree took command of the Continental Army?

9. What three states did Lincoln live in before becoming president?

10. Did Washington fight with the British?

VALENTINE GIFTS OF THE HEART

B10/Lakeland Newspapers

February 6, 1998

Valentine's Day has been celebrated since the days of the Romans

Hearts and flowers, cupids and candy — today's symbols of Valentine's Day are well removed from the circumstances which launched this annual display of overt affection. Established as a religious holiday, the Feast of St. Valentine honored the Christian martyr who lost his life during the reign of Roman Emperor Claudius II.

According to various historical accounts, Valentine, a holy priest in Rome, was persecuted for his Christian faith and executed on Feb. 14, approximately 270 A.D. His crimes against the Roman Empire differ depending upon the source, but some believe he was arrested for secretly performing Christian marriages despite Claudius' orders to the contrary, while others cite his penchant to assist Christian martyrs in their escape from Roman prisons as his primary offense.

Either way, Valentine became a symbol of love and compassion and was conveniently plucked from obscurity several hundreds of years later when the Christian church gained a stronger foothold in Europe and set about eradicating pagan rituals.

Again, depending on the source, we're told that the Feast of St. Valentine came to replace a mid-February fertility festival called Lupercalia or that it was established to abolish a heathen village custom of boys drawing the names of girls on the 15th of the month in honor of the goddess Februata Juno. Still others claim that sending greetings to loved ones on Feb. 14 dates to the middle ages when it was believed that this day marked the beginning of the mating season for birds.

So there you have it — crime, passion, forbidden displays of affection — all the makings of a great love story. No wonder it endures to this day!

On the most romantic day of the year, you can send a perfectly-tailored, personal message of "amour" with carefully selected flowers. Sure, roses are the traditional blossom of love, but why not expand creatively on that theme by adding Baby's Breath, which signify a pure heart, or Blue Violets, which indicate faithfulness.

Below are a sampling of other flowers and their meanings from which you can design a detailed testament of your affection.

Carnation, red — Admiration

Carnation, white — Pure and ardent love

Chrysanthemum — Friendship
Daisy — Loyalty, gentleness

Forget-me-not — True love

Forsythia — Anticipation

Globe Amaranth — Unfading love

Ivy — Fidelity

Primrose — Young love

Rose, pink — Perfect happiness

Rose, white — Charm and innocence

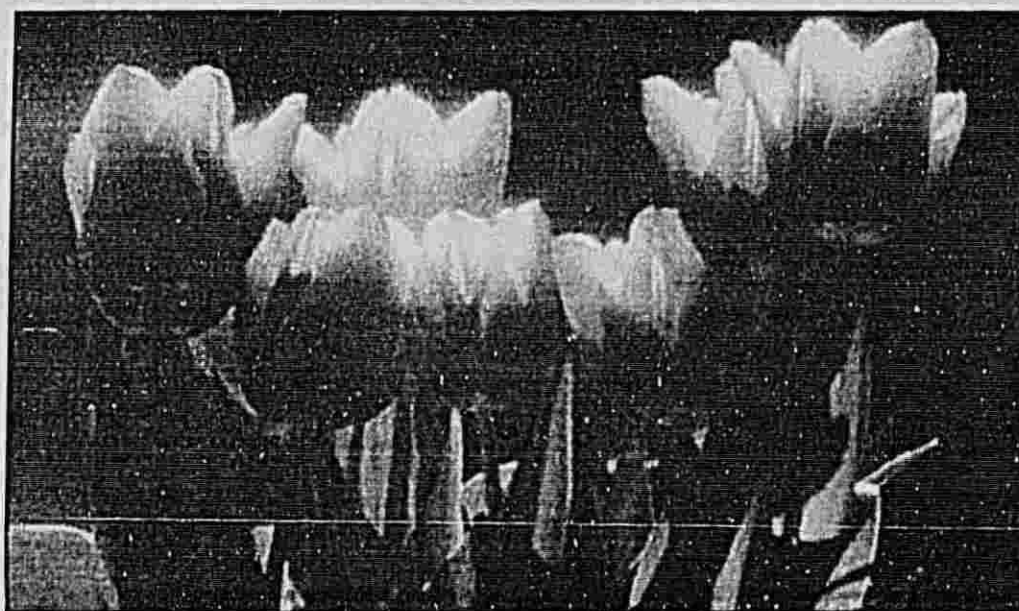

Rose, red — Love and desire

Rosebud — Beauty and youth

Brookfield Zoo offers purrrrr-fect Valentine's Day Gift

Brookfield Zoo has the purrrrr-fect gift for you to give your main squeeze this Feb. 14th. Adopt Anastasia, a 3 1/2 month-old Siberian tiger cub, through the zoo's Parents Program and your valentine will be "feline" fine.

The $35 adoption package features an attractive 3-inch by 3-inch decorative box (appropriate for a man or woman), handcrafted from mango wood. A hand-tooled, aluminum tiger design adorns the box lid. Each box is finished in either natural color stains or uniquely textured acrylic paint.

In addition, your "one and only" will receive the following Shared Care benefits: a personalized adoption certificate, a 5-inch by 7-inch color photograph of Anastasia, a fact sheet about Siberian tigers, an update on Anastasia sent later in the year, and an invitation to the Parents' Evening at the zoo on Aug. 15, 1998. (An adoption package with the Shared Care benefits, excluding the box, is also available for $25). Your contribution to the Parents Program will help Brookfield Zoo care Anastasia for one year. A gift card carrying your name and a Valentine's Day message can accompany the adoption package.

If you would like to adopt Anastasia or any of Brookfield Zoo's animals for your significant other this Valentine's Day, call the Parents Program at (708) 485-0263, ext. 341.

Siberian tigers are highly endangered due to their natural habitats being destroyed through deforestation and the spread of agriculture. To help ensure the survival of this species, Brookfield Zoo and other North American zoos cooperatively manage Siberian tigers through a Species Survival Plan (SSP) of the American Zoo and Aquarium Association. Under this plan, zoos strive to protect the Siberian tiger from extinction through long-term captive breeding. Anastasia's sister, Sheeba, who was born at Brookfield Zoo, was transferred to Lincoln Park Zoo due to a recommendation made by the SSP. She and her mate also are available for adoption this Valentine's Day through its A.D.O.P.T. program.

Open every day of the year, Brookfield Zoo is located at First Avenue and 31st Street in Brookfield, IL, just 14 miles west of downtown Chicago. The zoo is accessible via the Stevenson (I-55) and Eisenhower (I-290) expressways, Tri-State Tollway (I-294), Burlington Northern commuter line, and PACE bus service.

The Siberian tiger is one of many animals available for adoption at Brookfield Zoo.

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20

A financial windfall comes at just the right time. However, don't be a spendthrift. After you pay off your bills, put some money away. You're going to need it in the near future. A close friend has a problem and needs your help. Be supportive, and do what you can. Gemini plays an important role at the beginning of the week.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

A project that you've been working on hits a snag. Don't get discouraged. Think rationally, and you can solve the problem. A family gathering that you really don't want to attend actually ends up being a lot of fun. All of your worries are for naught. That special someone has a surprise for you. Enjoy it!

Gemini - May 22/June 21

You've got a relaxing week in front of you, Gemini. There are no deadlines to meet, and no one is piling responsibility on top of you. Enjoy it while you can, because things will get hectic soon. A loved one asks for your advice about a family problem. Be honest, and say what you really think.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

You are on edge this week, because you have so much to do and not enough time to get it all done. Don't get nervous. Just prioritize your schedule, and stick to it. You'll be surprised at what a little organization can do. Some friends take you out to celebrate an important event. This is your time to relax and have fun.

Leo - July 23/August 23

Be true to your ideals this week, Leo, as you face a challenging problem. Stand up for what you believe in, and you will come out ahead. A loved one reveals an interesting family fact to you. Don't let it throw you — and keep it to yourself. Capricorn and Pisces play key roles later in the week.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

Your error puts an important business project in jeopardy. Remedy the situation as quickly as possible, but think before you act. The higher-ups are watching you. That special someone has a question for you. Don't get nervous; he or she is not putting you on the spot. Just be honest.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

You, pleasant nature saves the day early in the week, Libra. Those around you are on edge, and you calm them down and keep them focused. A loved one gets into trouble. Don't get involved — you'll only end up getting hurt. The person you've been seeing stops calling. Don't get upset; he or she wasn't the right one for you anyway.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

Don't be too aggressive when you meet an interesting person early in the week. You don't want to push this person away, because he or she has a lot of connections that could help you with your career. A close friend confides in you. Be supportive, but be truthful. Leo plays a key role.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

You're on the go this week, Sagittarius. There's a lot to get done, and you can do it all if you stay focused. Don't let your responsibilities lag just because you want to have some fun. There'll be plenty of time to celebrate once you finish everything. Loved ones are more than willing to help you if you need it.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

Be honest with yourself, Capricorn. Don't get involved in something that you don't agree with just to make others happy. You have to think about yourself. You run into an old friend at the end of the week. Take some time to reminisce. You've got a lot to catch up on.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

You're on top of the world early in the week. Everything is going well at work and in your personal life. Even family problems are working out. Enjoy it. An interesting person asks you out to dinner. Say yes, but don't expect this to be the beginning of a long relationship. Just have a good time.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

This is your week to shine, Pisces. You do well at work and make a good impression on your superiors. As for romance, your relationship with that special someone is going strong. A loved one needs your help planning a family event. Do all that you can to help. He or she will appreciate your efforts.

BARNs: Tell story of Lake County's heritage

"Some just need paint, but they're so big they need 200 gallons." For some, she said, "The weathered wood could stand to have some seasoning done, some linseed oil." The costs for roofs, foundations, and paint are such that people will not make the investment.

Farming itself, in Lake County, does not generate the type of money needed to pay maintenance costs such as $20,000 for a foundation or $10,000 for a roof.

Burgess said the Save-A-Barn program can help preserve barns. "If you'd like to repair the roof, this program can help you obtain the money to do that." It is a program for grants to barn owners. Save-A-Barn hopes to make its initial grants in 1999.

There are barns in Lake County that speak of diversity, history, and social class. There is an unverified report of a barn built in Barrington by Native Americans. "This was around 1833," she said. Supposedly, a German barn builder taught his techniques to Native Americans as they built four structures. She said that barn is in danger from a crumbling foundation.

An early 1900s industrialist built a barn for his dairy cattle. "It was the epitome of gentleman farms," she said. The barn had a cork floor, central heating, and running water — although regulations did require running water. "He put in electricity as soon as he could," Burgess said, "I've never seen anything so catering to the comfort of cows."

"There is one (barn) in Barrington with a star carved in front of it," Burgess said.

The work on her book is a little more than half done. She estimates that she may finish in another eight months. "I've taken 63 rolls of film so far." She estimates there is another 30 to go. "I want to be thorough." There are 80 barns that she has documented, and about another 80 to work on.

Some counts suggest there were 2000 barns in Lake County at the turn of the century, and there are now 200 remaining. "Now people are pointing me in the right directions."

Her work involves research on the barn and the property on which it sits. She obtains permission from people to photograph the barn. "I'm compiling these stories into a book about families and the barns." It is a unique history of the County. History many times will focus on industry, but she wants to write about everyday people who build lives here.

"I'd like it to be out next fall," she said.

Books are already part of her background. She is the author of "Gardens and Other Sanctuaries in Long Grove, Illinois" which was published last year and is for sale at Barnes and Noble. "It's doing well," she said.

Another publisher is reviewing her book about the lives and defining moments of spirituality for some Arlington Heights nuns. They worked in missions across the United States. The title is "Gentleness Kiss the Earth."

Burgess has lived in Long Grove since 1991. Active in her community, she has also been a writer and photographer for area publications such as the Daily Herald, Lake Zurich and Libertyville Hometown Magazines, and Lakeland Publishers. Her photographs have been exhibited at the Lake County Museum and on the Oprah Winfrey Show.

Burgess has spent many hours in barns and finds them to be a special experience. "It is unusual to be in a room that large, alone, that is not (painted) white," she said. A person can look out from a barn opening. "The landscape stretches before you." She said, "You can imagine the prairie landscape."

"There is a sense of your small place in a big universe," she said.

Albert honored for outstanding service

Albert receives award for her compassion, dedication to patients

Compassion, devotion to family and community, and a commitment to making a difference in the lives of people who have cancer are qualities demonstrated daily by staff members at Midwestern Regional Medical Center and Cancer Treatment Centers of America in Zion. But each year, one staff member is selected as someone who is truly special.

In 1997, that honor was bestowed to Barbara Albert, a resident of Zion and member of the materials management department who has been a hospital employee since 1973.

"Barb is simply the most patient-focused person we know," said Roger C. Cary, Midwestern president and CEO, just before Albert was named recipient of the Arthur E. Fossland Award during the hospital's annual holiday celebration recently. "She routinely reminds us of our commitment to treat each and every patient need as if that person were our mother."

In addition to her position with the hospital's materials management department, Albert is active in the community through her parish. She is a Midwestern ambassador, and is currently president of the Assistance in Healthcare Foundation, a not-for-profit charity which raises and distributes funds to family members of patients at Midwestern who need financial assistance.

'Barbara's generosity and willingness to help in any situation are so important to our patients and family members.'

Arthur E. Fossland, president of the Midwestern Regional Medical Center board of trustees

"Barbara's generosity and willingness to help in any situation are so important to our patients and family members," says Arthur E. Fossland, president of the Midwestern board of trustees, and former mayor of Winthrop Harbor. The award—an engraved plaque and a vacation excursion to the destiny of her choice—is named in behalf of Fossland because it is his vision of patient-focused care which guides the mission and philosophy of the hospital.

For more information about Midwestern Regional Medical Center and Cancer Treatment Centers of America, call 872-4561.

Charlotte Libov to speak on heart disease at Condell

If someone asked you to name the number one killer of American women, what would you say—breast cancer? You would be wrong. The number one killer of American women is heart disease. It kills five times more women in this country than breast cancer, and only one out of five women know it, according to a Gallup survey.

Charlotte Libov, author, founder of Women's Heart Health Day, award winning medical journalist, and former heart patient will open Condell Medical Center's 1998 Women's Pearl of Health Community Education Series on Tuesday, Feb. 17 at 7:30 p.m.

The first 1998 presentation in Condell's Women's Pearl of Health Series will be held at the Allen Conference Center on the medical center campus, 700 Garfield Ave. in Libertyville. The cost of tickets is $5. Reservations can be made by calling Condell's Community Education Department at 362-2905, ext. 5770.

"Men's heart attacks just seem to get more attention than women's. That's my pet theory for the reason heart disease in women has been overlooked for so long," says Libov. "Women who have heart attacks tend to be older, retired or homemakers, so they don't have visible roles in society."

Yet, according to the American Heart Association, heart disease is the number one killer of American women, and has been since 1908. About 485,000 women die of cardiovascular disease in this country every year. That's twice the number of American women who die of all cancers combined.

Libov, who underwent open heart surgery in 1990 at age 40, was a consultant for "Women's Hearts at Risk," a public television special. She co-authored "The Woman's Heart Book" and "50 Essential Things To Do When The Doctor Says It's Heart Disease." And, she is founder and editor of Women's Health Hot Line, an electronic newsletter rated one of the Internet's top sites.

Her latest book, "Conquer the Odds: Protecting Yourself from the 10 Top Killer Diseases of Women," was published by Dutton in 1997.

Condell Medical Center opened a new, fully digitized diagnostic Cardiac Catheterization Laboratory last year. It was the first hospital in Lake County to offer a Cardiac Rehabilitation Program. Condell's Cardiology Services has grown into a comprehensive service for Lake County residents.

For more information and reservations, call 362-2905, ext. 5770.

Physicians arm teens with facts about sex, AIDS and disease

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, AIDS is no longer the number one killer of people between the ages of 25 and 44. It has dropped—but only to number two. Illinois doctors have a plan to further reduce the fatality statistics by helping young people avoid the disease.

"Straight Talk to Teens About: Sex, AIDS and Disease" is a program designed by physician members of the Illinois State Medical Society to arm teens with facts to help them make informed decisions about behaviors that could put them at risk. This program, offered free of charge to Illinois schools and teen centers, consists of three components: educational brochures (available in English and Spanish), an award-winning MTV-style video (encoded with closed-captioning) and a physician speakers bureau. Members of the speakers bureau are available to view the program video with teen groups and answer any questions they may have.

"Education is the best means of prevention," said ISMS president Jane L. Jackman, M.D. "By providing teens with answers to their questions about HIV, AIDS and sexually transmitted diseases, we can help make them aware of the activities that put them at risk and can potentially save them from contracting these life threatening diseases."

Many of those who die of AIDS at a young age are infected as teens. Symptoms of HIV, the virus that causes AIDS, can go undetected in the body for up to 10 years. For example, someone dying of AIDS at the age of 25 could have been infected at the young age of 15.

While HIV/AIDS is a focal point of the program, other sexually transmitted diseases are also addressed.

To inquire about the program, obtain program materials or arrange for a speaker, call the Illinois State Medical Society at 1-800-782-ISMS.

Correct use of child safety seats reduces risks

Recent research shows that the correct use of child safety seats can reduce the risk of auto deaths in children by 71%, hospitalizations by 67% and minor injuries by 50%.

When using a child car seat, the Lake County Health Department recommends the following:

- Have the children ride in the back seat, whenever possible, and not in the front passenger seat. Also, never fasten a rear-facing baby seat in the front seat of a vehicle that has a passenger side air bag.

- If children must ride in the front seat, try to have the largest child in the front passenger seat, and move the seat as far back from the dashboard as possible.

- Never use pillows or cushions to boost your child. If the car is hit, the pillow may cause the child to slide under and out of the safety belt.

- Never put luggage or other hard objects on the back window shelf of the car. In the event of a sudden stop, the items could fly forward and hit passengers.

"The correct use of child car seats, as well as seat buckles, is extremely important for any parent to remember," urged Dale Galassie, Executive Director of the Lake County Health Department.

For more information on car safety for children, please call the Lake County Health Department Health Educator at (847) 360-6716.

Seventh-grade love can be 'crushing'

Dear Dr. Singer, My daughter is having a very hard time right now. She is in 7th grade and has a crush on this boy who is very popular. My daughter is not very popular, but has some friends. Anyway, she tried to let this boy know that she liked him and in a very mean way, he has been tormenting her with his friends since he found out. They are teasing her a lot and she is very distraught. She doesn't want to go back to school. Anything you can suggest? F.D.

Dear F.D.,

Aren't kids cruel sometimes? I know that what you are going through as her mother watching this happen is equally as hard if not harder than what she is going through.

What you're describing is not that unusual a situation for that age group. It's one of the rites of passage. I also went through it as did many people I know. How you deal with it depends on your own strength and your own ability to bounce back.

I don't know your daughter specifically so I cannot comment on how fast she will bounce back or how strong she will be. If you feel at any time she is so depressed that she may be wanting to take it out on herself, you need to get professional help immediately.

If you feel, however, that "this too shall pass," then you will want to let her know that you are there for her if she wants to talk. I wouldn't force her or pressure her to talk to you since sometimes it is equally as embarrassing to pour over the details of the situation with a parent. Certainly, if she lets you talk to her about it and you have any stories to share from your own life, it would probably help her to know that she isn't the only one who has ever gone through it and survived.

PARENT'S PLACE

Here is a personal tidbit from my life that you can share with her that may make her feel better. When I was in 7th grade I was head over heels in love with a certain guy. He was just so cute and so popular. Everyone in school, knew him and liked him. He ran with the "in crowd." I was in a situation close to what you describe your daughter to be in-had some friends but not really popular and definitely sensitive about it.

In those days, the big show was "Happy Days," and I was an avid watcher. In one of the episodes, Joanie fell in love with Potsie and was afraid to tell him so she left him secret admirer notes. I decided to do the same thing with my love interest but made the fatal mistake of letting a very nasty girl see me put it in his locker. He got the note, she told him who it was from and for the next several months, life became a nightmare. Merciless teasing. Constant haranguing. Certainly it hurt me and it was hard to go to school, but it became a vendetta with me. I wasn't going to let them know they hurt me and low and behold, when I strongly faced up to their teasing, it went away.

They got bored because I wasn't responding anymore so they went on to the next exciting event and left me alone. I remember how much that hurt, but when I look back, I realize that I got a lot of good out of that situation. I learned how to face my fears. I learned how to stand in the face of adversity and I truly feel that I am far more confident today because of facing that battle. I learned that people will usually show you their true colors fairly quickly. This guy was extremely immature and mean. Those characteristics did not deserve me!

Your daughter will also look back one day at all of the things she got out of this bad situation. She has avoided a group of people that are obviously also immature and mean. She learned something about judging character. This is a positive thing. There is always good that comes out of bad. I remember hearing someone once say that you need an awful lot of fertilizer (for lack of a better word) to make a beautiful garden grow. It's really true. Like I said, if you feel your daughter is in dire need and in danger of doing something harmful to herself over this than you need to get professional help immediately, but if it is something that just needs to be dealt with until it gets better, hopefully my story can help in some way. Good luck!

Simplifying life can make arthritis less painful

When the hectic pace of day-to-day living increases the pain of arthritis, choosing a simplified lifestyle can help ease that pain, according to the Arthritis Foundation. The March-April issue of Arthritis Today, the Arthritis Foundation's national consumer magazine, outlines techniques for those seeking simplicity at home and work to better manage their arthritis.

"Many people with arthritis say they are overwhelmed by trying to juggle the demands of each day and ask for suggestions to simplify their lives. This issue of Arthritis Today addresses this request in an effort to improve the quality of life of those affected by the pain and fatigue of arthritis," said Dr. Walter Barr, vice president, Arthritis Foundation, Greater Chicago Chapter Board of Directors.

To help people with arthritis simplify life at home and work, Arthritis Today suggests the following:

- Acknowledge your limitations. Carefully choose the activities that are most meaningful in your life and begin to discard the rest.

- Clear the clutter from your life. Cleaning out closets and drawers and hauling clutter to a thrift shop may cost extra energy in the short term, but the payoff will be worth it. Remember when reorganizing your home and work space to place frequently used items within easy reach.

- Get in the practice of writing your choices, thoughts and ideas in a simplicity journal. This is a great way of making you more aware of the ways your life gets complicated and what options you can come up with to simplify things.

- Learn to say "no." Remind yourself that true friends and loving family members don't want to see you overworked and overwhelmed. This will help you better manage your disease.

- Look realistically at your budget and determine how much money you need to live on. Determine how much money it would take to make lifestyle changes, such as working part-time instead of full-time or moving to a small town for a slower pace.

- Learn to control spending. Creating a financial cushion will increase your confidence in making big changes in your job or in choosing where you want to live in order to simplify your life and reduce the pain and stress of arthritis.

Contact the Arthritis Foundation for free arthritis information and local quality-of-life services that can make a difference. Call (312) 616-3470.

"These suggestions are among the many given in Arthritis Today to help people feel more in control of their lives and their disease. By reducing stress and simplifying their lives, people can begin to manage their arthritis instead of the other way around," said Dr. Barr.

For more information, including a free copy of the brochures Managing Your Activities, Managing Your Fatigue, or Managing Your Stress, Contact the Arthritis Foundation at (312) 616-3470.

The Arthritis Foundation is the source of help and hope for the nearly 40 million Americans affected by arthritis. The foundation supports research to find ways to cure and prevent arthritis diseases, and seeks to improve the quality of life for those affected by arthritis.

Teaching Kids Useful Skills to Solve Everyday Problems

PSTMC Child & Adolescent Intensive Outpatient Program Staff

It's easy to overlook the fact that many of the problems which children and adolescents experience may be due to a lack of basic skills in handling conflicts, controlling impulsivity and expressing thoughts and feelings through words instead of action. This presentation will review ways in which kids can be helped to develop their own problem-solving abilities and gain mastery over the difficulties they face in everyday living.

Don't let thumb-sucking affect your child's smile

February is National Children's Health Month. For new parents who are concerned about their baby's thumb-sucking, the Illinois State Dental Society offers the following advice.

Sucking is one of baby's natural reflexes. As infants grow, sucking serves many purposes. Infants and young children may suck on thumbs, fingers, pacifiers or toys because it makes them feel secure and happy and helps them learn about their world.

Young children may find that placing a finger or thumb into their mouth provides them with a sense of security at difficult periods such as after a scolding or when separated from their parents. Because thumb-sucking is relaxing, it may induce sleep. For this reason, young children may often do this in the evenings or when they are tired.

The Illinois State Dental Society notes that prolonged thumb-sucking can cause problems. Once the permanent teeth erupt, sucking may cause problems with the proper growth of the mouth and alignment of teeth.

One factor that determines whether a dental problem may result is the intensity of sucking. Children who rest their thumbs passively in their mouths are less likely to have difficulty than those who vigorously suck their thumbs. In the later case, when a parent removes the thumb from the child's mouth, a "popping" sound is often heard.

The Illinois State Dental Society notes that some aggressive thumb-suckers may cause problems for their primary (baby) teeth. If you notice changes in the baby teeth, consult your dentist.

Usually, children stop thumb-sucking between the ages of 2 and 4. Sucking gradually lessens during this period as they spend more of their waking hours exploring their surroundings. They should cease sucking by the time the permanent front teeth are ready to erupt. Peer pressure causes many school-aged children to stop.

Sucking a pacifier is not necessarily less harmful for a child. Pacifiers can affect the teeth essentially the same way as sucking fingers and thumbs. It is often an easier habit to break.

The society says to keep these tips in mind when helping your child:

- Instead of scolding children for sucking, praise them when they are not.

- Remember that children often suck their thumbs when feeling insecure. Focus on correcting the cause of anxiety, instead of thumb-sucking.

- Children who are sucking for comfort will feel less of a need when their parents provide comfort.

- Reward children when they refrain from sucking during difficult periods, such as when being separated from their parents.

- If these approaches don't work, remind the children of their habit by bandaging the thumb or putting a sock on the hand at night. In extreme cases, your dentist or pediatrician may prescribe a bitter medication to coat the thumb.

guish she and her family suffered after her brother was killed by a drunk driver last year.

Demos-Rosenthal has decided to try make the most of a devastating situation.

"I had a little brochure, I don't know where I got it," she said. "I called MADD and I found out there wasn't a Lake County chapter."

She hopes to fill a void she experienced after her brother's death. She hopes to start a Lake County chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Driving.

MADD's mission is simply stated. "The mission of Mothers Against Drunk Driving is to stop drunk driving and to support the victims of those violent crimes," reads the organization's mission statement.

The events leading up to her brother's death play out like a work of fiction.

David Demos, a deputy sheriff with the Milwaukee County Sheriff's Department, was not supposed to be on duty that day. He should have been home with his wife, their flashing.

Down the road, long before the scene of the crash, a driver observed a car in front of him weaving and driving erratically. He called it in on his cellular phone in hopes that a state trooper would pull him over before any incident.

Demos-Rosenthal said the driver was encouraged when he saw Demos' squad lights on along the side of the road.

"He thought, 'oh good, they're going to stop him,'" said Demos-Rosenthal.

Instead, the driver, and his two children, were subject to the awful scene as it played out before them.

The man's car swerved, across numerous lanes of traffic, ramming Demos' squad. Demos was thrown into the air, cartwheeling along the side, hitting both the car he was assisting and his squad car before coming to a stop.

Demos' injuries were massive. "His spine was broken, his head, the bone structure was separated

Crack down: it's time to stop the nudity

County board to create adult use licenses

By SPENCER SCHEIN
Staff Reporter

Officials are taking a hammer to adult entertainment establishments in Lake County, with a focus of knocking them down a peg while allowing them to stay in business.

Lake County Board Members will vote at the Feb. 10 board meeting to create an adult entertainment use license, giving the county more control over the sexually oriented business industry than it has ever had before.

If approved, no businesses will be allowed to feature nude dancing, and all adult entertainers would have to perform on a stage separated from customers by at least 3 feet. Lap dancing would be banned, and any tips would have to be placed in a separate receptacle and not in a dancer's garter, said Lake County Board Member Diana O'Kelly (R-Mundelein).

Women dancers would have to wear pasties and g-strings, as nipples and pubic hair cannot be shown, O'Kelly said, reading from the ordinance, which will create a license, and a license board, to be chaired by the Lake County Board Chairman.

The ordinance was created in response to the nude dancing club which was briefly open in unincorporated Diamond Lake near Mundelein toward the end of 1997. Offsides Sports Bar/Scores has been closed as of Dec. 31, when a Lake County judge determined the operators did not have full control over the business.

"What we are doing is trying to protect the other communities from being put into a situation like the Diamond Lake area was," O'Kelly said.

Mitchell Hoffman, Lake County chief deputy states attorney for the civil division, thought the ordinance went a long way to limiting the ability to operate such businesses, "but still allow them to operate, since they are protected by the First Amendment."

"It will require all operators of adult use establishments to apply for and obtain a license from the county and in order to maintain that license, they will have to comply with all of the regulations set forth in the ordinance," Hoffman said.

Hours of operation would be limited from noon to midnight Monday through Saturday only. "They must be closed on Sunday," O'Kelly said. The language appearing on signs would also be closely monitored, with anything about nude or "XXX" or silhouettes of women not allowed, she said.

Flashing or beacon lights would also be banned, something which O'Kelly said she received 50 calls from residents after Offsides used it to attract customers. Liquor and gambling would also be banned.

As the ordinance is written, adults ages 18 and over would be allowed into such businesses, but county officials are researching to determine if the age limit can be raised to 21. Some Mundelein High School

Murky leadership at Soil and Water may lead to lawsuit

Citizens, directors question who is in charge; election Tuesday

By LEON FILAS
Staff Reporter

According to the by-laws of the Lake County Soil and Water Conservation District, Joe Sbarboro may be illegally in control as chairman of the estranged board.

Citizen concern about the unrest at the Grayslake district may result in a class action law suit being filed later this week, according to sources.

This latest action comes on the heels of the Feb. 10 election in which citizens residing in the district will be asked to vote on three new directors for the board. There are five names on the ballot.

The question of whether or not Sbarboro is legally chairman of the board steps from a motion passed at a Dec. 9 board meeting in which the controversial chairman was asked to step down. Sbarboro stepped down, momentarily, releasing the meeting to Otto Sprenger, vice-chairman of the board.

At the next monthly meeting, however, Sbarboro stepped forward, announcing to the board of directors that he refused to step down because the motion was worded incorrectly.

"According to the motion, he was asked to resign as chairman, which he later refused to do," said Dave Richards, a director of the soil and water district. "The motion was incorrect."

However, according to the by-laws of the soil and water district, Sbarboro may be illegally sitting upon the top of the throne in the district.

The bylaws state: "The directors shall elect one of their members as chairman to hold for such a time as the directors may determine." According to the by-laws, the unanimous motion to have Sbarboro removed from office would stand, as the members have voted him down.

"This is something that should be discussed with our attorneys," Sprenger stated in a phone interview. "All litigation refers back to the attorney."

Soil and water district attorney, Bernard Wysocki, stated that he has been recently hired and has no knowledge of the situation. He referred the situation to Lake County States Attorney Mark Hoffman, who also has never been contacted.

"I don't have anything to do with that," Wysocki stated. "I was contacted about the election and gave them my opinion on that."

The election could also be in jeopardy, as Sbarboro, who is still acting as chairman, is reviewing petitions of other entrants in the election. This could be considered a conflict of interest as Sbarboro is running in the same election.

"This is not a good practice," Wysocki stated about the reviewing of the petitions. "They should get a legal opinion to review the petitions. My recommendation was to let the Department of Agriculture review it."

Unfortunately, no one wants to step up to rule on the situation.

"The Lake County Soil and Water Conservation District will be locally administrated and the courts should decide the outcome of the events," Patrick Hogan, spokesperson from the Illinois Dept. of Agriculture in Springfield, stated. "We are not nor will be planning on stepping into this and it should be handled in the local election."

"If that is indeed the case, then the proper method in my opinion would be to have the Lake County Board of Elections decide who should be on the ballot," Wysocki stated. "A disinterested group should review the petitions and decide."

"We have no authority over that, it's not in our jurisdiction," said Daphne Deadrick, of the Lake County Clerk's office. "That's directly from the Lake County States Attorney. The Soil and Water District is one of only two types of public governing districts in the state that don't fall under state election code guidelines, currently."

Sbarboro would not return phone calls and was therefore unavailable for comment.

Boundaries continues to trouble soil, water district

By RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
Managing Editor

It has been a year of controversy at the Lake County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Beginning with the question of the district's boundaries by the newly seated board last March.

Following the Feb. 11, 1996 elections, three individuals sent letters to the Illinois Department of Agriculture expressing their concerns with the way the elections were administered.

At the heart of the issue is understanding where the district's boundaries lie. The district was formed in 1957. At that time, incorporated municipalities and platted subdivision made a decision as to whether or not they wanted to belong to the district. The boundaries have not been altered since then and to do so will take an act of the state legislature.

Individuals interested in voting in the Feb. 11 election for directors should contact the Soil and Water District at 223-1056 to find out if they reside in the district.

On the Feb. 11 ballot are: Pam Kerpec, Robert Maraviglia, Randy Reid, Joseph Sbarboro and Robert Smyth. Nancy Garland is running as a write-in candidate.

NUDITY: County board to create adult business ordinance students who were 18 years old did attend Offsites when it was open.

A main feature of the ordinance is requiring operators of sexually oriented businesses apply for a use license, paying a $200 license fee and putting up a $5,000 bond, O'Kelly said. All employees of such businesses would have to be registered with the county.

Adult bookstores would not be allowed to have doors on any booths, and only one person would be allowed in any booth, O'Kelly said. Adult video stores that have separate viewing areas will also have to be licensed by the county.

All existing sexually oriented businesses will have to apply for these licenses by May 11, or else cease all operations, O'Kelly said.

"Existing facilities must apply for a permit by that date and obtain the permit by Nov. 11," Hoffman said.

The county board will take two votes Feb. 10 regarding the issue—one to create the license and one to schedule public hearings for the zoning of where sexually oriented businesses will be allowed.

The ordinance was put together by the Chicago law firm Burke, Weaver and Prell in a way that will not violate the owners and operators rights under the U.S. Constitution, O'Kelly said.

"We spent $10,000 on this ordinance," she said during the Feb. 2 Mundelein Board of Trustees meeting, where she presented the board with copies of the ordinance. Village officials had been active in the fight to get the topless dance club closed, as was Ellen Whelan, an area resident who formed the Citizens for Community Standards organization.

from his spine and his body was severed at his pelvis like a wish bone," said Demos-Rosenthal.

"All Dave was doing was his job." The driver of the car, an Arlington Heights man, kept driving and wasn't stopped for a few miles down the road.

"He didn't think anything was wrong," said Demos-Rosenthal. "He said, 'well I knew I hit something but I didn't think it was anything major.'"

Demos-Rosenthal said two hours after the crash, the man's blood alcohol content was .18. Police estimated his B.A.C. at the time of the crash was .24.

The man refused to plead guilty. "He made us go through a trial," said Demos-Rosenthal.

He was convicted after the trial and sentenced to 10 years in prison, 500 hours of community service. The man also has to speak quarterly to students about alcoholism, visits Demos' grave yearly and attend daily Alcoholics Anonymous meetings.

The punishment was just, but did not heal the scars.

"There are no words to describe the unyielding anguish and pain this creates," said Demos-Rosenthal. "It's still surreal to me."

"Mistakes are when you add one and one and get three. This isn't a mistake," she continued. "The illegal act occurs when you get in a car and turn the ignition."

"You don't have to be .08 to be legally drunk."

Demos-Rosenthal said she is doing research, putting together a report on the number of DUIs, prosecution rates and other related statistics. She will then submit a lengthy questionnaire, and if she drums up at least 20 people willing to join, the chapter will be chartered.

"My intent is to educate," she said. "The mission of MADD is to change the perceptions and attitudes of people who think it is OK."

Demos-Rosenthal said her hope is to hold the first informal meeting within the next month or two and added she is willing to appear before various groups to speak and get her message out.

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Local's film to air on PBS

Island Lake—Lisa Raymond, formerly of the village and a 1982 Wauconda High School graduate has achieved her goals of making it in Hollywood. Raymond has worked in the film industry for five to six years, as a director, assistant director, script supervisor or editor on commercials and films.

Her award-winning film, "The Unknown Soldier," will air this weekend on the PBS show "Image Union" on WTTW-Chicago Channel 11, at 10 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 7, and 1:30 a.m., Sunday, Feb. 8, and the director encourages everyone to tune in.

The film is about the effects a raped and murdered woman has on society, something based on a true scenario in Chicago.

Pride president resigns

Mundelein—Three years was enough for John Maguire, who last week resigned as president of Mundelein Pride. Maguire made his decision to resign as leader of the downtown revitalization group in order to put his name in the hat of applicants for the newly created executive director's position.

"In the past year, when the discussion of an executive director position came up, I thought I might be interested," he said. "Basically I just wanted to remove myself from the day to day operations so this is an open job search," Maguire said. Maguire's announcement was made at the end of Pride's Jan. 27 board meeting, at which time Pride Vice President Lynnea Hansen was appointed his replacement.

Pride is waiting to hear from Illinois Lt. Gov. Bob Kustra if it made the cut and was accepted into the Illinois Suburban MainStreet program. Pride officials have said notification was expected as early as the first of the year, and are now hoping to have a formal announcement by the end of this week.

Sunday dance, lunch benefit

Lake Villa—Lake Villa United Methodist Church will host their fifth annual Valentine's Lunch and Tea Dance at the Country Squire Ballroom on Sunday, Feb. 15 from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Advanced reservation only tickets are now available from 847-356-3820 and 847-356-2661 and cost $25 a person.

The luncheon is served at 12:30 p.m.

Music will be provided by "The Windy City Groove." The band plays a wide variety of music from Big Band to Disco styles. They are well known for their 'Blues Brothers' recreations and costumes.

All proceeds are to benefit the Lake Villa United Methodist Church.

February Faschings Ball set

Antioch—Festive costumes, music by Talismann, and dancing are featured attractions of the German-American Club of Antioch Faschings Ball February 14 at the Antioch Golf Club.

"It's a Mardi Gras," said President Karl Pokorny.

There are larger, more expensive German-American balls in Chicago. For Lake County residents however, this is a good evening of entertainment and meeting with friends, according to Pokorny. The hall will be decorated in a theme that evokes Valentine's Day.

"There are quite a few prizes for the best costumes, male and female, and the most original," he said.

"It's an evening event," Pokorny said. The doors open at 7 p.m. and the dance itself starts near 8 p.m. There is an $8 admission charge that can be paid at the entrance.

Trustees question post office site

Gurnee—While pleased the village may be receiving a new post office some two decades behind the need, Gurnee officials are questioning the site selected by the U.S. Postal Service.

The site is five acres at the northwest corner of Washington Street and Cemetery Road.

"We will stress our concerns about traffic but we are in such a dire need of a new post office we do not want to delay it," Gurnee Mayor Richard Welton said.

In February, 1997, developer Jeffrey Green and Post Office officials met with plan commission members to discuss a site near Kensington Homes off O'Plaine Road.

According to Post Office spokesman James Kinne, the developer withdrew that offer last fall.

Olympic dreams

"There had been a considerable amount of time spent on a village center location and the owner had worked with staff," James Hayner, village administrator, said.

"Are they included in further discussions with improvements to Washington Street," Mark Ratfelders, Gurnee trustee, said.

A proposed expansion of Six Flags Theme Park would be located to the east.

"Twenty years ago we told the Post Office this (O'Plaine Road) site would not be adequate. Our population has outstripped Libertyville's, yet we do not have an adequate post office. We are not happy with their deliberations," Rocheleau said.

Kinne said two sites were looked at off O'Plaine Road.

Gundelach acquitted of OUI

Round Lake—Roy Gundelach, the Fox Waterway Dredging Coordinator who was arrested last May for OUI, operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol, was acquitted of the charges against him by a Lake County Jury on Friday, after nearly 9 hours of deliberations.

Gundelach, 50, of Ingleside was arrested after he ran into another boater on Lake Marie. He refused to take a breathalyzer test upon the arrest, which led to a suspension of boating privileges for two years. He was acquitted of the accident because the 16 foot vessel that was rammed by Gundelach did not have his running lights on.

Norton's arrest upheld by judge

Grayslake—Evidence and the arrest Assistant Libertyville Fire Chief Kenneth Norton will be admitted in his trial set to begin March 9.

Judge Stephen Walter denied the request of Norton's attorney Thomas Briscoe to have his arrest quashed and suppress evidence seized the evening Norton allegedly struck bicyclist Mark Capistrant citing lack of a valid warrant to search Norton or his vehicle.

Walter denied the request of Norton's attorney Thomas Briscoe, at a pre-trial hearing Jan. 29, to have the arrest quashed and suppress evidence seized the evening Norton allegedly struck Capistrant.

Norton, 41, of Grayslake has been charged in connection with the death of Capistrant, who was struck while riding on the shoulder of Route 120, the evening of July 30, 1997.

Norton's next scheduled court appearance is Feb. 24 for a pre-trial hearing. Norton faces one count of reckless homicide, and two misdemeanor charges for failure to stop after an accident involving death and failure to render aid following an accident involving death.

During the pre-trial hearing Jan. 29 Grayslake officer Rita Stang, the first officer respond to the scene of the accident, revealed during questioning she didn't know a person suspected of driving under the influence could be made to submit to a blood test.

Senior housing may open 1999

Antioch—Construction of the 38-unit Tiffany Road Senior Apartments building will begin mid-summer if financing by private and public sector agencies is received. First tenant occupancy may be early summer, 1999.

Antioch village trustees voted Feb. 2 to accept a recommendation to grant a requested zoning variation that will permit senior housing at 885 Tiffany Road.

"Senior housing is really needed in the Antioch area," said Trustee Wayne Foresta during discussion of the recommendation before the council.

The Plan Commission and Zoning Board of Appeals voted Jan. 22 to recommend the variation request to the council.

Council action was based on a series of agreements recommended by Village Attorney Kenneth Clark and Planning Director Robert Silhan and accepted by Rick Baschetti of T&S Builders, developer of the proposed project.

Silhan reported to the council that he had reviewed the 1966 Village Zoning Map. He said that the property for Tiffany Road Senior Apartments was zoned R-5, a multiple family zoning classification at that time. "So, it's been zoned multiple family for over 30 years," Silhan said.

Libertyville man catches thief

Libertyville—A former Libertyville man turned his lunch break into a foot chase after a man stole his colleague's purse.

Rob Lang, 29, a lawyer in downtown Chicago, was having lunch with a female senior partner in his company's firm last Friday, Jan. 30 at the Wall Street Deli, 55 East Monroe, when a man entered the delicatessen, maced Lang's colleague and stole her purse.

Rather than stand by and wait for police to show up and take a report on the stolen purse, Lang gave chase.

The suspect, Daryl Bowman, ran into an alley where Lang continued to chase him. Lang was maced four or five times during the chase and finally tackled Bowman in the alley between Clark and LaSalle, a block-and-a-half from the deli.

Lang held the man down and a Chicago police officer in the area took Bowman into custody.

Warfield case tough nut to crack

Libertyville—Over the last few weeks, staff members at Libertyville Community High School's student newspaper, Drops of Ink, got a taste of just how tough journalism can be at times.

The students decided to cover the story of Andrew Warfield, a former English teacher at the school, who was dismissed by the school board in November for alleged improper behavior with a juvenile female student.

Warfield, a controversial teacher who was popular with his students, is currently appealing the firing and will also appear in Lake County court on misdemeanor battery charges.

The students, Kelly Rain, Drew King and Libby Connelly recently sat down with the Libertyville News to talk about the experience.

LCHS should trust demographic predictions of leader

The Libertyville Community High School Board of Education should place its trust in the 18-year reign of Superintendent Donald Gossett and not spend an additional $5,000 plus of taxpayer money on a demographic study designed to ensure projected student attendance numbers are accurate.

The board is considering a proposal by renowned demographer Dr. John Kasarda of North Carolina to complete a new demographic study of the district's future enrollment projections.

The catch, LCHS staffers would compile the information and send it to North Carolina for review by Kasarda. If the board opts to have Kasarda visit LCHS in person, the cost of the study would be raised by more than $1,850.

Sounds like a waste of money.

Four board members are calling for a new demographic study because Gossett's projections for 1997-98 were off by 50 students. The reason—Gregg's Landing has developed slower than anticipated.

Board members want to ensure the district's second campus and renovations to the Butler Campus are completed with the most accurate numbers possible.

A worthy notion.

But, no one can predict the future. How many students will reside in the mega-Gregg's Landing development can only be projected, not assured.

Gossett has proven himself to be a good demographer over the years. During his nearly two decade tenure at the helm of LCHS, Gossett's predictions in this far from exact science have been accurate within 1 percent.

The board should trust his numbers and move ahead with the project of building the schools. Furthermore, a new demographic study will not cause an alternation in plans for either the new high school or renovations to Butler Lake. Tax payers have approved a referendum for $48.5 which will provide for an equitable education for all the students in the district.

Show taxpayers the money—in a savings account.

Curfew crackdown benefits cut in crime

A case can be made for a strong curfew ordinance providing law enforcement with a formidable tool for cracking down on gang activity. Every municipality can benefit from comprehensive ordinances designed to keep school-age children in class and off the streets.

Waukegan received a glowing report on how effective a reenergized ordinance combining curfew and truancy provisions has been in reducing crime and combating gang activity. Police Chief Scott Burleson credits a decision by the city council in 1996 to toughen an old curfew law with a healthy reduction in crime in 1997.

The statistics back up Burleson's claim. With vigorous enforcement last year, curfew arrests almost tripled. Overall juvenile arrests for the same period almost doubled. Directly related, Burleson believes, is a 21 percent reduction in burglaries and a 13 percent drop in thefts from 3,098 to 2,692. Police had the support of volunteers and parents combing the community for youths out after 10 p.m. weekdays and midnight on weekends.

While Waukegan may be burdened with the highest amount of gang activity in Lake County, curbing gangs has a high priority in a number of other county towns. A crackdown on curfew violations and intense enforcement of truancy rules goes hand-in-hand with making a safer community.

VIEWPOINT

Salvis capitalize on old misfortunes

Al and Mike Salvi are finding that even when you lose in politics you can gain—in name recognition. The brothers Salvi achieved enough awareness in the minds of voters in losing efforts in 1996 to give them a bump in the early going in the 1998 primary where they are gunning for nominations again.

At least one early poll gave Al Salvi an edge in his contest with State Rep. Bob Churchill (R-Lake Villa) for the Republican nomination for secretary of state. Mike Salvi is regarded the early leader in the four-way contest for the GOP nomination to succeed retiring State Rep. Verna Clayton (R-Buffalo Grove) in a south Lake County legislative district.

Both Salvis acknowledge quickly that losing is not exactly the way to gain valuable name recognition with electors. Call it a residual for a persistence.

Mike Salvi, a Lake Zurich attorney, is tussling with Buffalo Grove Mayor Sidney Mathias, Ray Ivancic, a Schaumburg Realtor, and Mark Riefenberg, a Barrington resident and collections manager of Great Lakes Credit Union headquartered in North Chicago. Debate over limiting campaign spending sparked the early going in this contest without any agreement. The four candidates are expected to spend freely. Mike spent $48,000 in a losing effort two years ago and was part of Al's successful shootout a decade ago with Nancy Masteron where both candidates spent more than a combined $200,000 to get nominated for a west Lake County seat, a record at the time that still might be standing.

The Al Salvi-Churchill battle is getting off to a slow start. Salvi's strategy appears to be regrouping the force he forged in 1996 to pull a surprise victory for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator while banking on a late television blitz. Churchill has had to do some staff retuning. As a party regular, Churchill will align his efforts with George Ryan and Loleta Didrickson.

Churchill and Al Salvi are old protagonists going back to the early 1990's when Churchill was gaining his spurs as a solid organization man and Salvi was establishing a reputation as an independent, albeit conservative Republican.

Salvi and Churchill clashed countless times in the lawmaking process. In those days, Churchill characterized Salvi as an undependable, legislative "Lone Ranger." Salvi viewed his fellow Lake Countian as devoid of principle, a slavishly ambitious self-seeker.

How these differences play out mark the secretary of state race for special interest, not only in Lake County but all of Illinois. Churchill-Salvi has the ingredients of a grudge match, the likes of which are not seen often in modern politics. Two candidates have a distinct dislike for each other.

Don't expect to hear any references to "my worthy opponent."

Earning dividends

I received a check the other day for $11.43 cents from the 5th Hour Company, a Junior Achievement Applied Economics Company at Lake Zurich High School. The check represented the return on three shares of $2 par value stock purchased last fall. 5th Hour Company went into the T-shirt business, obviously running at a profit. Pretty nice return. 5th Hour was sponsored by Kemper Insurance of Long Grove.

For love's sake

A downtown Chicago hotel has put together a sweetheart of a Valentine's Day package for young lovers. The price tag is $306,426.75. No typographical error. Besides a suite at the Fairmont swimming in red roses and champagne, the package includes a 1998 Lamborghini Diablo VT Roadster with snow corn leather interior piped in blue.

Family business

The Cortesi family launched its fourth location, Sunset Foods Libertyville, with an impressive open house Wednesday evening. Besides high quality food products, the Cortesi's pride themselves on personal touches like helping unload grocery carts at check-out and then placing shopping bags in your car. The Cortesi family is one of the most durable supermarket operators in northern Illinois, serving county families for more than 50 years, first with their flagship store in Highland Park and later with stores in Lake Forest and Northbrook.

'T' word hounds candidates

The world's worst kept secret is that the Lake County Board is considering that a referendum be held in November calling for a quarter cent sales tax increase. The reason that it is trying to be kept a secret, is that too many County Board members face primary challenges on March 17 and they'd rather not talk about taxes. Most of them feel that they're "home free" if they win their primary contests.

The first one to really let "the cat out of the bag" was Sheriff Gary Del Re when he, early on, said that there was an urgent need to build a new minimum security facility in Lake County. He showed that he's never run for election before, and he was coached quickly by some on the board, that such comments can be translated to mean "tax increase." The sheriff has been more careful in choosing his words when he's been asked about the need for a new correctional facility. He's learned to use the politically correct phrase, "talk of that would be premature."

The first County Board member to venture out and bring up the subject of the quarter cent sales tax was Angelo Kyle, who is the Chairman of the Law and Judicial Committee. He made some favorable comments in behalf of a sales tax increase that would lead you to believe that only tourists pay sales taxes. Of course, when Kyle opened his tax mouth, he never dreamed that, as an incumbent, he would face a primary challenge. After Waukegan Alderman John Balen threw his hat in the ring to challenge Kyle for the District 12 seat, Kyle has begun to use the operative phrase, that any discussion of the jail or tax increase "is too premature."

SEEING IT THROUGH

The next County Board member to walk on the plank was Jim Stanczak. He didn't say a word about taxes; instead openly came out in favor of turning the abandoned Karcher Hotel on Washington Street into a minimum security jail. With absolutely no facts to back up his conclusions, he said that selecting the Karcher site would save the taxpayers money. With no more facts to go on than Jim, my gut feeling is that rehabbing that fire-scarred hotel will cost mega-bucks. That's not to say that a committee studying the feasibility of the site wouldn't come up with an opposite conclusion. Consultants always come up with the conclusion first, and then manufacture figures to back it up.

Since Stanczak doesn't have any primary opposition and his race for the District 8 seat is Democrat Robert Sabonjian Jr., why would he so quickly latch on to this issue? By the way, he was cautioned by none other than Kyle that any talk of the jail was "premature" and everyone should "hold their fire." But, Stanczak's position may be politically motivated, too.

Jim is known to be friendly with some in the city administration.

I'm sure that he is well aware that the owner of the Karcher building is Waukegan businessman Al Mini. I'm sure that Stanczak knows that Mini is a "buddy" of Waukegan Director of Government Services Donald Weakley. He's been accused of making mayoral decisions before, so it was no surprise when he said that Mayor Bill Durkin was approached and "had no objection."

The Karcher Hotel has been vacant for 14 years and it can be classified as a "white elephant." Mini doesn't have to worry about the city going after him to do something about the building considering the relationship.

So, along comes Jim Stanczak, in the name of criminal justice, with this scheme to bail out Al Mini. Of course, he hasn't come up with the figures on how much the taxpayers will foot for this bailout.

Jim—Repeat after me—any talk of a minimum security facility is "premature."

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Wood, Simpson may challenge for top county GOP job

Competition for chairman of the Lake County Central committee is shaping up for a two year term that will be following the March 17 primary.

Ginnie Wood, long time Libertyville Township precinct worker with Lake Forest ties, and Warren Township Supervisor Sue Simpson are being mentioned to contest Dr. John Schullen, County Board representative who has served as GOP chair for six years.

Back in town

Former Lake Zurich Mayor Jim Kay spent a few days in Lake County recently, returning for a deposition in a complicated land case. Jim is enjoying life in his new home in South Carolina where he reports local politics isn't as heated as he remembers Lake Zurich. Kay officially is semi-retired, although he works in retail several days a week.

Willie connects

Backers of former Undersheriff Willie Smith say his "up from the ranks" career in law enforcement is connecting with Republican voters who'll be selecting a nominee for sheriff in a few weeks. These same voices contend that Sheriff Gary Del Re started "at the top," which they view as contrary to Republican tradition. After years in a command position in the Buffalo Grove police department, Del Re was named undersheriff three years ago to the, then Sheriff Clinton Grinnell.

Who's supporting who? Word around town is that County Board Dist. 10 challenger Mary Fitzgibbons was recruited by the man incumbent Diana O'Kelly downed four years ago—Collin McRae. Fitzgibbons is facing first-term O'Kelly in the Mundelein area primary, March 17 for the GOP nomination. Word has it that fellow board member John Schullen, party chairman for the GOP in Lake County, doesn't want the credit for recruiting Fitzgibbons. Privately, he is a fan of O'Kelly, despite the fact, that they are aligned with different factions.

Marks snubbed

County Board Rep. Martha Marks (R-Riverwoods) said she wasn't surprised when Vernon Republican committeemen endorsed her opponent, Dr. Andy Altman, a Highland Park dentist. "Just makes me want to work harder," Marks replied coolly. Shades of the GOP Central Committee's past snubbing of incumbent Republicans.

Dr. Andy will be feted at a Thursday, Feb. 12 fundraiser dubbed, "Two Great Men in History," which has prompted some political jokesmiths to wonder if he's one of them. The fundraiser will be held at Half Day Inn.

Share, think alike

County Board Reps. Sandy Cole (R-Grayslake) and Al Westerman (Warren Township) share the same philosophies about restrained growth and protection of the environment. They also shared the same photographer for a fresh shot for new political literature, a leafy scene in a forest preserve.

Lottery a tax on stupid people?

A meek, mild-mannered player of the Illinois State Lottery won $200 the other day on a $1 Little Lotto quick-pick. Out of the clear blue, he matched four of the five numbers; matching all five would have been worth $40,000.

Ah, so close and yet so far—so our friend's natural greed wasn't satisfied. Forty thousand would have come in handy.

Anyway, the lousy $200 was the first money this particular Milwaukee gambler had won in four years of playing Lotto and Little Lotto. (I don't want to embarrass the chump by using his full name, so let's call him by his initials, J.P.)

Since J.P. reluctantly but religiously spends a handful of dollars every week on this state-sponsored rip-off, he figures it cost him about $1,000 to win the paltry $200. As one critic of this despicable way for Illinois to generate revenue reminded us recently, "The lottery is a tax on stupid people."

I use the word religiously because we know that if Somebody Up There wants to help us, he or she can't do it unless we at least participate. Of course, it's just possible that Somebody Up There has more important concerns than the Illinois lottery.

As the Bible says, money is the root of all evil. But perhaps equally true is George Bernard Shaw's follow-up observation: "The lack of money is the root of all evil."

The chances for lotto lightning to strike us remain remote, currently six million to one, about the same odds that the Cubs will win a pennant some year soon.

Apparently, if some of us ever are going to become wealthy, we will have to make our money the old-fashioned way—marry it.

We may imagine that most millionaire lottery winners are now on some Caribbean beach, lighting their cigars with 10-dollar bills. But some of those who fell into a pot of jam have met with misfortune. Stories abound about how winning the lottery ruined people's lives.

A few years ago, a Pittsburgh man called Buddy won $16 million in the Pennsylvania Lottery. Afterwards, he was convicted of assault on a business partner, his sixth wife left him, his brother tried to kill him to gain access to his money, and his landlady, saying they shared the winning ticket, successfully sued him for one-third of the jackpot.

Buddy bought himself a mansion but made bad business ventures and wound up bankrupt.

"Money didn't change me," he said. "It changed people around me. I thought they cared a little bit about me, but they only cared about the money. Money draws flies."

Similar stories about "the lottery albatross" keep popping up in the press. Obviously, some folks just can't handle instant riches but, you know, I think our dear friend J.P. may be ready to disprove the old adage that money can't buy happiness.

At the very least, I think he deserves a shot at it.

COMMENTARY

Media frenzy distorts presidential obligations

By H.O. Peters

It is embarrassing to see the majority of the American public glued to all the news media with salaciously salivating "talk show" mentalities, especially if they feel that our chief executive, President Clinton, can be found guilty of what he has been accused of.

Media hype creates speculation in a public in a public willing to believe before all the facts are in. But a vast majority love to feed on these reports. Before any person may form an opinion, let all the facts surface before condemnation. I do not know whether he is guilty or not; that is not the important issue on my mind.

Any person, including the President of the United States, is, in a court of law, innocent until proven guilty. The news media has turned this into a clownish circus. Let the lynch mobs put down their noses.

The Presidential meeting with PLO leader Yassir Arafat proved beyond a doubt that some of the White House invited correspondents and interviewers were about as responsible as the banjo player on "Deliverance." The meeting was to be about the hot and continuing Mid East issues and as I sat down to see what would transpire in these American and Pan-Arabic talks, I was stunned by the first five questions from these allegedly responsible interviewers as they seemed to focus mainly and solely on the President's alleged sordid and seamy dark side—in front of PLO leader Yassir Arafat.

Finally, the sixth question, by a more responsible, jaw-clenching, journalist surfaced and did lend a saner side by addressing the more important Mid-East and other world issues.

Rather than concentrate on any personal foibles that Clinton is belabored with, which would be totally counter productive in the national interest, it would seem to me that the attention should be directed to something of more vital importance like world affairs.

In the end, the truth will have emerged, but in the in-between time I would rather be prepared in the event (not too far-fetched) that a global escalation can be prevented. I'd rather spend my time preparing for the defense of my country than by wasting time perusing licentious tabloids.

Editor's note: H.O. Peters is a retired employee of North Shore Gas Co. A Wildwood resident, he served in the Navy during the Korean conflict.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

David whips Goliath with facts

Letters to the Editor, Lakeland Newspaper, Jan. 30, 1998 edition from James Magee and Ray Wolfel, attorney and building commissioner for the Village of Round Lake, respectively are not only unethical but are inaccurate. Fortunately for village residents, that's the case or they would be paying for a lawsuit for invasion of privacy. The personal information is exempt from release by the Freedom of Information Act. Here are the facts with documentation available upon request:

I bought my property and easement in 1992. The cost was more than $70,000. This is totally irrelevant to the issue.

I have an easement for a private road, Document #2869424, Jan. 16, 1990, 8:30 a.m. The road is over 78 years old. Penguin Group bought the property in 1994, aware of the easement. The village received documentation Dec. 29, 1996. Mr. Magee's opinion the following day was "her easement, if it exists, would not seem to present an issue—" The village approved the development in 1997 without clear title on the property.

I do not belied pig rescue, not a "hog farm." My pigs aren't for sale. I got my first pig in 1992 shortly after buying the property. My first pig, Peanut, was in the paper for graduating dog training. The recent addition of 15 pigs was from Joe Sbarboro due to inhumane conditions they were in. I'm zoned Countryside which allows livestock and a sign. There is no sign—yet.

The Nov. 24, 1998, letter from Mr. Magee with attached quit claim mentions no money except the $10 consideration. On Dec. 9, 1997, my attorney informed the village my easement wasn't for sale but negotiations with Penguin Group were offered. I never offered my property to the village. If I didn't respond to the village, how did I make this offer?

Why would anyone give up a private road for a public one? I don't want to live at the end of a cul-de-sac. I believe that allowing public access to my property compromises the safety and welfare of my animals, my property and myself.

Abutting property owners to this parcel have recently had "anonymous" complaints with Lake County Building and Zoning and Health Dept. I have voluntarily requested a Health Dept. inspection of my well, septic and general conditions of my property and Dept. of Agriculture inspection of runoff from my "hog farm." More of our tax dollars at work. The village should be concerned about erosion, runoff and Army Corps of Engineer violations from the Pritzker project on unstable, hydrous soil with wetlands throughout than 18 pigs on 5 acres.

I don't embarrass the village and the developer. They've been doing a great job of that themselves.

Round Lake could better spend their time and taxpayer money doing their jobs and looking over laws that they seem to ignore rather than devising ways to harass non-residents. I suggest that Penguin, of the multi-billion dollar Pritzker family, pays a price commensurate with the gain of my property and easement coupled with the loss they'd experience without it. The money spent on legal expenses and lost on down time is adding up fast along with poor public opinion of their "living in harmony" with the neighbors. I will continue to fight for my rights and property in spite of the untruths and pressures by the village and developer.

Mail delivery

This is about mail delivery in Fox Lake. Fox Lake has house to house delivery, yet on Round Hill, people have mailboxes in front of their houses. Why can't they have delivery to their houses, also?

Fox Lake

Keep off!

Hey, snowmobilers, keep off of personal property and tearing up sea walls. We're out here to start busting your butts or something. Furthermore, you're spoiling it for others who are abiding by the rules. We ought to pass another law, as usual, to keep you off the property.

Antioch

Driving lesson

There are two rules of the road I wish drivers would follow. #1: Right-hand turn on red. Would you mind waiting for a safe interval? I've seen people dart out into a space I couldn't spit into. #2: If someone is parked in your lane and you have to go around them, could you wait until the oncoming traffic, who has the right of way, passes by? I don't think I should have to go onto the shoulder because you're ignorant of the law.

Senior harassment

I'm calling about harassment of senior citizens. I'm a 65-year-old retired senior citizen residing in an apartment complex near the railroad station. Since 1992, I've paid my rent on time without fail. During the last two years, the management attitude toward seniors has changed to one of resentment, harassment, intimidation, and threats of violence. If a senior makes a complaint, the management will carry threats forward. To be looked on with scorn by the younger population, creates an environment of fear through management intimidation and tactics. The premise of the problem lies in a reduced level of rent, which is not profitable without high turnover.

Antioch

Pleads for dog

I would like the people who let my yellow lab out of their dog run to know that my baby needs surgery. I am not happy with this. If you want something from me come and explain it to me. Please don't take it out on my baby dog. She might need an amputation now.

Kiss and tell

This is to the woman who called the police on two men kissing in the Jewel parking lot in Antioch. I was calling to say that she should not have called the police for that reason. Would she have called the cops if she saw a boy and girl kissing? And for the police to do a DNA sample on the back seat doesn't make any sense either.

Fox Lake

Next time, I'll call

Wake up, Grayslake residents! There's a leash law. Every day when I walk my dog, mostly between Haryan Farms and West Trails, I have a problem with dogs running out. Even when the owners are standing there. Maybe if I call the police next time, you'll get the hint.

Grayslake

No news is...

I have been watching the paper each week for news of the riverboat. Until just recently, all was quiet. I am not in favor of a riverboat for Fox Lake. My husband and I have lived here for many years and raised our family here. Over the years, we've watched the lakes become overcrowded with people who don't care about preserving them or the land around them. I don't think a riverboat will help the situation. Have you ever tried to enter Route 12 on a Friday, Saturday or Sunday in the summertime? It's almost impossible. By adding a riverboat, the traffic will increase even more. What will the town of Fox Lake gain to possibly justify more traffic and adding to overcrowded lakes, to say nothing of the crime it will bring. I should think we would want to add something to benefit the town and people in it, something to benefit families like a water park or beach.

Is he afraid?

I thought our Township Supervisor Mr. Tim Osmond, wanted to help the unincorporated area. It seems like he's against everything they're proposing. Is he afraid his laundromat would lose a lot of customers if sewers come in?

Antioch

What's going on?

I'm wondering if anyone out there knows what's going on at Harts Hill. There's nowhere to go sledding around here and that's the best place for kids. My kids went there recently on a beautiful sledding day and it was closed. It's been closed for a week. Does anyone know what's going on? Our kids want to go sledding.

Thanks for the memories

Love ya, Antioch. Thank you for all your kindness and encouragement during my recent transition to another Jewel location. It has been my pleasure to have known and served you the last 17 years.—Sandy

Awards, schwads

How come the Lake Zurich police department keeps getting awards for silly things like seat belts and child safety car seats when we in the village don't get our speed limit enforced? Do you think these fuzzy awards are making us feel better? We want to feel safe for our children in our residential streets. That's the least we should expect from our police force.

Lake Zurich

Take care of dogs

We live in Antioch in Heron Harbor subdivision. This is the second week in a row that two Bassett hounds have been running around. This is very careless. One day they're not going to come back. You people had better keep track of your animals!

Antioch

Disappointed

In response to "Riverboat water displacement" on Jan. 30, if you were making soup and the vegetables were boiling over, what would happen when you add the roast? We were hoping for an intelligent answer. We're disappointed.

Fox Lake

Excuuuse me!

In his letter to the editor, zoning administrator Ray Woeffel characterizes the efforts of those of us living around the Valley Lakes subdivision to modify the dessimation and destruction going on around us as a "quixotic foray into other communities and an affront to the neighbors' lives into which they are intruding."

Excuse me, Mr. Woeffel, your rich developer friends are intruding into our lives. It is the Village of Round Lake who is an outsider in our neck of the woods. It is my yard, not yours, that will flood every spring due to uncontrolled development across the street, my ears that are assaulted by the "beep, beep" of construction vehicles, and the peace and serenity of my environment destroyed forever.

Your me-first, to-hell-with-the-other-guy attitude is the problem, not the legitimate concerns of those of us who have to live every day with the consequences of the selfish, short-sighted and greedy decisions of politicians who live on the other side of town, far removed from the mayhem and congestion that they are creating.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

The number you have reached...

On March 10, 1876, Alexander Graham Bell hooked up the first two telephones and made the world's first phone call. Today, telephone users place more than a billion calls every day in America.

Small-business owners are heavy telephone users. Some are abusers and misusers. Like other technology, the telephone can increase your productivity and profitability if used properly. However, it can cost you time, frustration and customers if used incorrectly. Here are some tips for improving your business on the telephone.

21 Telephone Tips

- Answer the phone promptly. Answering on the first or second ring is fine. Answering on the third ring is sloppy, and four rings or more is annoying.

- Identify yourself. Whether you are making the call or answering the phone, let people know who you are. It is professional and courteous.

- Put a smile in your voice. You'll win friends and boost your company's image.

- Speak slowly and clearly. Speak distinctly and never talk with food in your mouth.

- Be willing to help. Take time to ensure that each caller finds what he or she is looking for.

- Be a good listener. Stay alert and ask for clarification if there are any points you don't understand.

- Give the caller your undivided attention. Don't try to do two things at once. Paying attention can help you gain new customers and retain old ones.

- Keep a pad and pen handy. Take good notes: Did you quote a price? Make an appointment? Promise a delivery? Write it down.

- Take messages effectively. Train everyone who answers the phone to get at least the following basic information every time: the caller's name, company and phone number, the time and date, the message and any required action.

- Return calls promptly. A quick return increases the odds of completing the call. It also shows interest on your part.

- Place your own calls. This saves time. It also makes the other person feel that you value his or her time.

- Place each call carefully. Look up the number, jot it down and dial deliberately.

- Answer your own calls. There may be times when urgent priorities prevent you from taking calls. However, if you are accepting calls, answer your own phone.

- Prepare for important calls. List critical points to cover, questions to ask or information to gain. You waste time, and may appear foolish if you have to call back because you forgot to ask a question.

- Choose your words carefully. Know how to say what you want to say. Practice how you want to tackle tough topics.

- Avoid "turn-off" phrases: Instead of "You have to..." say, "If you will..." Always be positive and polite.

- Keep a "hot list." We all have numbers we call frequently. Keep a short list of those numbers you need frequently, but don't have memorized.

Book examines workplace privacy controversy

What privacy rights to employees have on the job? Do employers have the right to search desks, read an employee's E-mail, or monitor telephone calls? Can an employer tell employees who to date or how to dress? How far can employers go when conducting workplace searches, surveillance or investigations? The answers to these questions and many more are covered in a new book released by AMACOM Books, division of American Management Association, entitled "The New Battle Over Workplace Privacy," written by management consultant and author William S. Hubbard.

Hubbard is president of Hubbard & Associates, a St. Charles human resources management consulting firm and author of four management books.

Workplace privacy issues pit employees against their employers in a tug-of-war over where employer rights to control the business end and employee privacy rights begin. "The New Battle Over Workplace Privacy" provides critical information to sort out the delicate legal and complex human resource issues of workplace privacy.

"The New Battle Over Workplace Privacy" exposes examples of outrageous employer conduct found to be an invasion of employee privacy rights, such as:

- Requiring an employee to strip to her underwear in a store rest room to satisfy a customer complaint about lost cash;

- Firing an employee because of a dating relationship;

- Conducting surveillance of an employee's affair in a motel room;
- Refusing to promote a woman because of her dress and appearance;

- Blocking employee exit from a company parking lot to conduct a search of employee cars for drugs;

- Revealing an individual's private medical information to co-workers; and,

- Installing a listening device in an employee break room and listening to employee conversations.

Hubbard's new book examines privacy issues related to searches and surveillance, drug testing, use of psychological and polygraph tests, employer intercepting of E-mail messages, supervisor monitoring of employee telephone calls, employer handling of personnel and medical records, employer dress codes, and management attempts to control employee dating, secondary employment and other off work activities. In all, some 39 workplace privacy issues are examined in 262 easy to read pages.

In "The New Battle Over Workplace Privacy," over 55 actual employee privacy invasion cases are used to reveal the human side of employer intrusions into private lives of their employees. The book identifies what privacy rights employees actually have by providing highlights of federal laws, state laws, common law privacy invasion concepts, and limitations imposed by the U.S. Constitution.

Complex privacy issues are analyzed in a practical manner identifying just how far management can go. "The New Battle Over Workplace Privacy" contains numerous check lists, sample policies, forms, and suggested employee communications tips to minimize conflict, confusion, and litigation.

Author Hubbard provides the reader with numerous management guidelines and recommended policies and suggested procedures to resolve complex privacy issues in a way which avoids costly legal liabilities and promotes good employee relations.

Great Lakes Credit Union fundraiser a success

Thanks to the added support of its members, Great Lakes Credit Union (GLCU) made a record-breaking contribution of over $2,800 to the Central Baptist Children's Home this past holiday season. For the past 20 years, GLCU and its employees have raised funds to provide holiday gifts and everyday necessities for the kids. Credit union members responded generously when GLCU asked them to help "brighten a child's holiday."

Great Lakes Credit Union employees, eager to volunteer, shopped for gifts on the wish lists of 75 children during the holiday rush. Links were displayed in GLCU branches for every dollar donated by a member. GLCU raised other contributions throughout the year with aluminum can and paper recycling rebates, candy bar sales and employee donations. Great Lakes Credit Union also donated $500.

Located in Lake Villa, the Central Baptist Children's Home provides residential and foster care, adoption services, community based youth services, and counseling for children and families in need.

Established in 1938, Great Lakes Credit Union has $277 million in assets and over 100,000 members.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Be responsible with your 401(k)

The 401(k): It might sound like a top-secret code name, but in fact, it's one of the most popular and well-known ways to save for retirement.

With 401(k) plans, wage earners can contribute before-tax dollars to a retirement account. Employers like 401(k) plans because they're not subject to many of the federal regulations and penalties imposed on traditional retirement plans. Employees like 401(k)s because they provide more investment flexibility.

Along with flexibility, however, comes responsibility. Employees—many of whom have limited investing experience—face important decisions with their 401(k) plans.

One of the biggest mistakes individuals make with 401(k) plans is treating them like short-term trading vehicles. Because of 401(k)s' tax-sheltered status, some individuals use them in an attempt to jump out of equities at the top of the market and hop back in at the bottom. Professionals call it market timing but know it's almost impossible to do.

Besides, market timing is a technique based on short-term expectations—yet the objective of 401(k) investing is retirement. That alone indicates a long-term focus.

It's also important to remember that your 401(k) is only part of your portfolio. As such, it should be included in your overall investment plan when considering the proper allocation of assets. A balanced portfolio includes a mix of equities, bonds and money market funds. Some of these investments are more appropriate for 401(k) plans than others.

For example, growth stocks, equity mutual funds and corporate bonds that can add capital gains and income to a portfolio are typical investments to shelter within a 401(k). Cash investments such as money market funds and CDs can better serve you outside a 401(k). These are shorter-term vehicles that allow you to withdraw cash for emergencies or other needs.

While 401(k) plans are not designed for short-term needs, some plans allow employees to borrow from their 401(k)s. Before you make such a move, be sure you understand the true cost of doing so.

When it comes to saving for retirement, 401(k) plans are one of the best deals going. They offer flexibility and choices, but it's important to be well-informed and responsible in making those choices.

Employees want the reviews

For most employees, no news isn't necessarily good news. Today's workers want feedback, even though it may only come in the form of job reviews. According to the results of a new nationwide consumer survey, employees value performance appraisals, as 66 percent of respondents said that these sessions have a "favorable impact" on their job motivation.

The survey was developed by OfficeTeam, the world's leading staffing service specializing in highly skilled temporary office and administrative professionals. It was conducted by an independent research firm and includes responses from 685 men and women, all 18 years of age or older and employed.

Survey respondents were asked: "In general, how do performance appraisals impact your level of motivation at your job?" Their responses:

- Very favorable impact: 25 percent;
- Somewhat favorable impact: 41 percent;
- No impact: 21 percent;
- Somewhat unfavorable impact:

3 percent;

- Very unfavorable impact: 4 percent; and,
- Don't know/no answer: 6 percent.

Diane Domeyer, executive director of OfficeTeam, stated that managers should not wait for year-end performance appraisals to provide this needed input. "Open and regular communication is a major ingredient in creating a positive corporate culture, which is paramount to many workers today. Retention of valued staff and improved productivity usually follow."

Jennifer Agha, OfficeTeam's division director, said, "Employees should capitalize on performance reviews as a forum to outline professional goals and suggest how their departments might operate more efficiently. In addition, they should be proactive in seeking feedback from supervisors on an ongoing basis."

There are more than 175 OfficeTeam locations in the United States, Canada and Europe. The OfficeTeam web site is located at www.officeteam.com.

TAYLOR: Tips for telephone use

• Keep a phone book handy. Have a phone directory within reach for your own use as well as helping a caller find a number.

• Use the hold button carefully. If you have to leave the line to help a caller, let the person know why. Remember, the caller can't see what you're doing. If it takes more than 30 seconds, return to the line and update your progress. Offer to call back if you need to.

• Leave good messages. When you must leave a message, make it as complete as possible. Include your name, work number, home number if appropriate and a good time to reach you.

• Use the fax to request information. When I have difficulty reaching something, I send a fax. I include the questions I need answers to, and request a fax back. It usually works.

New 1998 tax laws could affect tax planning

A number of important tax changes were enacted that take effect in 1998 and tax planning for 1998 and future years.

You may be able to claim a tax credit of $400 for each of your qualifying children under the age of 17. It might be a good idea for you to fill out a new Form W-4 and give it to your employer so you can get part of that credit in your pay check instead of waiting until next year.

More detailed information on this and other changes can be found in Publication 553, Highlights of 1997 Tax Changes. This publication is available free by calling 1-800-829-3676.

A number of educational benefits also become available in 1998. These include:

The Hope Scholarship credit will let people claim a credit up to $1,500 a year for a qualified student's first two years of post-secondary education expenses. This amount is based on 100 percent of the first $1,000 of tuition and fees (not books) and 50 percent of the next $1,000.

Available after June 1998, the Lifetime Learning credit lets people claim 20 percent of the first $5,000 of post-secondary education expenses each year. The education includes graduate courses and any training to get or improve job skills.

Dependents and married persons filing separate returns can't claim either credit. Both credits might be claimed in one tax year, but not for expenses related to the same person. For example, qualifying parents might claim the Lifetime Learning credit for their own educational expenses and the Hope Scholarship credit for their child's second year in college.

In addition to these new credits, people will be able to deduct interest paid after 1997 on higher-education loans. The maximum deduction is $1,000 in 1998, increasing $500 a year until it reaches $2,500 in 2001. People can take the deduction for interest paid on education loans for themselves, their spouse or dependents, but only for the first 60 months of loan payments.

Beginning in 1998, the adjusted gross income (AGI) used to phase out the EITC is changed. People will add to their AGI tax-exempt interest, nontaxable distributions from pensions and IRAs, and 75 percent of net losses from businesses (up from 50 percent).

Beginning in 1998, you will not have to make estimated tax payments if you expect to owe less than $1,000 on your taxes. This is up from $500 in previous years.

Starting in 1998, the estate tax exclusion will increase to $655,000, up from $600,000. It will step up to $650,000 in 1999, and keep on climbing until it tops off at $1 million in 2006. Each amount is the maximum value of an estate that's tax free for that year.

Special estate tax treatment applies to qualified family-owned businesses when the family owned business interests comprise more than 50 percent of the value of the estate. For 1998, the new provision excludes up to $675,000 of value in qualified family-owned business interests from a decedent's taxable estate.

Other provisions kick in for 1999 tax planning. Inflation adjustments will be made for the $10,000 annual gift tax exclusion, the $750,000 ceiling for the alternate valuation of farmland, the $1 million generation-skipping transfer tax exemption, and the $1 million eligible for the low-interest rate for extended payments on a closely held business.

The "Roth IRA" features nondeductible contributions, with tax-free distributions if they begin at least five years after the initial contribution and you are at least age 59-1/2, or disabled, or a beneficiary, or the procedure used for a first-time home purchase.

If you have an AGI under $100,000 you can roll over a non-Roth IRA into a Roth IRA. You will have to pay tax as though they had withdrawn the funds, but there is no early withdrawal penalty. If the rollover takes place in 1998, the taxable amount is spread out over four years. That is, one-quarter of the taxable rollover is included in income in 1998, 1999, and so on. Married couples filing separate returns can't roll over into a Roth IRA.

The "Education IRA," is not a retirement savings vehicle, but one used to pay for qualified higher education expenses of a designated beneficiary. It features nondeductible contributions up to $500 a year per beneficiary, with no tax on the earnings when used for higher education expenses. The beneficiary must be under age 18 when the contribution is made.

For people who want to tap into their non-Roth IRAs to help pay for qualified higher education expenses, they are allowed to do so. And first-time home buyers can withdraw up to $10,000 from their IRAs. In each case, they'll pay tax on the amount withdrawn, but no penalty.

Where's my refund?

By now, many of you have filed your 1997 Federal tax return and are patiently waiting for your refund. Generally, you should receive your refund within six weeks from the date your return is filed. The amount of time varies based on the method you used to file your return and how early you filed.

For example, if you file a paper return in February, you'll usually receive your refund in about five weeks. File in March, and the time increases to six weeks. But if you file in April, the heaviest filing period, you may have to wait about eight weeks.

Filing your return either by telephone, through an on-line computer service, or by using a computer-generated form called the 1040PC means faster processing of your return, and faster processing means your refund arrives sooner.

If it's been eight weeks since your return was filed, you can check on the status of the refund by calling our toll-free automated refund line at 1-800-829-4477. Be sure to have a copy of your tax return handy before you call so you can respond to questions. Refund information is updated once a week, so please wait seven days before calling again.

I'm often asked why people have to wait eight weeks before calling to check on their refund. Let me explain.

The best way to avoid the problem of lost or stolen refund checks, and to speed up a refund, is to request that your refund be directly deposited into your bank account. No matter how you file, it's easy to select Direct Deposit. Just check that option on your return and provide the necessary information.—by Robert W. Brock, IRS District Director

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Dear Search,
I have been working as a secretary for 21 years with the same company. I was the President's assistant and started when I was fresh out of secretarial school. The owner has sold the company and here I am jobless, as the new owner has no place for me. Upon my leaving I was earning a salary of $30,000 per year, which I have worked many years to build up to that level. My problem is in these past 21 years the company has always operated manually, which leaves me with no computer experience. I am one month into the job search and have found it impossible to find a comparable position anywhere within my salary range without computer experience. No company wants to take time to train me, and I feel as though I've been in a "Time Warp". Please give me an idea as to what I can do to get the experience I need to keep up with the times.
S.M. - Fox Lake

Dear S.M.,
Don't Panic! One day training seminars are available to you in a wide variety of programs such as Introduction to Computers, WordPerfect, Lotus and many more. These programs can do wonders for boosting your career. You can walk away from training feeling computer literate. From that point, once you feel comfortable, and you will, the doors are wide open. Set your mind to it and give me a call (244-0016). There is no need to be frightened of the world of computers. It's like riding a bicycle, once you learn, you never forget. I hope to hear from you and further help you to get back in the work force.

Dear Search,
I have this terribly embarrassing problem when it comes to interviewing. I get so nervous that every time I reach out to shake the employer's hand, my hands are so incredibly sweaty. I want to avoid shaking hands at all cost, yet I don't want to appear disrespectful by not doing so. I'm sure that my problem is not uncommon. Help!
S.D. - Lindenhurst

Dear S.D.,
You are not alone by any means. Some hints to solve that problem may be to hold a handkerchief in either your pocket or hands while interviewing to absorb the perspiration, or to purchase a small rosin bag (used most often by bowlers) and keep that in your pocket.

NOTE: Let's poll the readers out there...Write me about your most embarrassing moment in interviewing and how you overcame it!

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee.

Letters can be sent to Nancy Sakol c/o Lakeland Newspapers, P.O. Box 268, Grayslake, IL 60030

BURROWS*BURROWS

Brickwork, quoins, cut stone arches over the windows, along with the harmonizing brick arches on the three car garage begin the majestic theme. The accommodating luxury within, including a spa room for lounging and an office for working, afford many outstanding features to be shared with family and guests alike. A large lot or acreage is needed to contain this home of 3,453 square feet.

An arched transom window above double doors opens into the entry, where windows look into a bright skylight filled spa room. On the left lies a half bath and an office, while on the right, the living room is separated from the main traffic flow by a hallway.

The first opening in the hall leads into the kitchen and family room. The "L"-shaped kitchen offers restaurant style extras like a mixing center, secondary sink, and walk-in pantry. The eating bar makes an informal transition into the family room. Patio doors lead into the spa room from this area, while two other doors lead to the separate decks. At the back of the spacious family room, a corner bay window, and an angled fireplace emit both light and warmth.

Across the hall from the kitchen is the dining room. Its location allows a formal touch, away from the food preparation, as well as an unobstructed view of the fireplace from the table. The adjacent living room makes this area perfect for entertaining guests or clients.

Further down the hall are two large bedrooms with walk-in closets, sharing a common full bath. Across the hall is a utility room with a deep sink, folding center, and linen storage. Near the garage entry, a generous guest suite with outside access, also includes a full bath and walk-in closet.

At the opposite end of the home, a luxurious master suite welcomes each morning and night with all the finest amenities. This private domain has room for exercise equipment as well as a king size bed. Entering the master bath, a skylight brightens up the double sink vanity area, as well as the deep walk-in closet. Up two steps, the clever shaped tub glows with dispersed light from glass block near the ceiling.

PET PARADE

Dr. Trask*Ask The Vet

Ask The Vet-Dr. David Trask is part of a group of northern Lake County veterinarians who pooled their money and expertise to start All Creatures Emergency Hospital in Grayslake providing emergency care to pets nights, weekends and holidays. During the day he can be reached at Lindenhurst Animal Hospital.

Question:

I have one cat that purrs and one cat that never purrs, why is that?

Answer:

All cats seem to have the ability to purr, some seem to choose not to. Extensive research has been done on this topic but no one seems to have been able to come up with an answer on exactly why this takes place. It has been found that cats seem to purr more frequently when they are relaxed or content, but this is not to say that if your cat doesn't purr that it is not happy and content.

BATMAN

What a charmer this young fellow is! At just about seven months, he's still a youngster. He's a mix of Black Lab and Airdale with a shaggy muzzle that makes him look as though he's wearing a Batman mask.

He is gentle, intelligent and affectionate. A little training will make a wonderfully responsive household companion of him. He is very clean and well mannered.

For adoption information on BATMAN, other quality AAF pets, or becoming a needed and very welcome volunteer, please call the ASSISI ANIMAL FOUNDATION at (815) 455-9411.

A Pair to Love

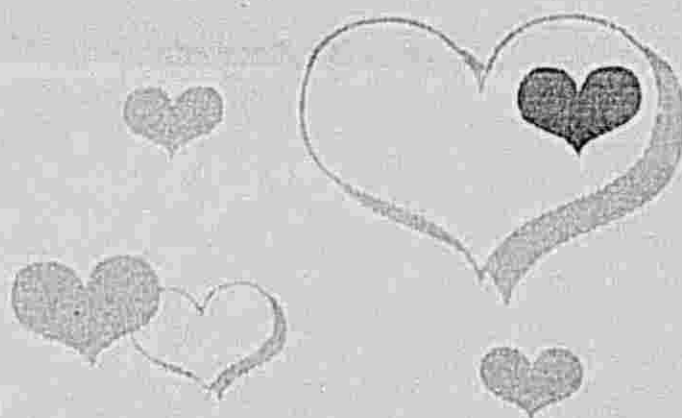

"CLEO & MIMI" are an adorable pair that were raised together until a no-pets apartment caused them to lose their home. As different in appearance as two dogs can be, these opposites are definitely attached and must not be separated. CLEO is a black/cream 4 yr. old female shep/rottweiler mix. A mid-size dog, Cleo has a beautiful face, a short coat and a wonderful, outgoing, loving disposition. MIMI is a very small female 3 yr. old cocker spaniel with a red semi-long coat. And this little girl does not take a back seat to her big sister! Both dogs are housebroken and wonderful with children. Cleo & Mimi have been waiting patiently since 1/97 for the home and the love they once knew. If you are looking for a compatible twosome for your family, come and see Cleo & Mimi in Cage 52.

ALL DOGS BENEFIT FROM BASIC HOUSEBREAKING AND OBEDIENCE TRAINING WHICH HELPS BOND DOG TO OWNER. CRATING IS RECOMMENDED THE FIRST YEAR WHEN THE OWNER IS AWAY, IF NEEDED.

Cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, tag, leash, first shots, follow-up care and much more.

Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield. Hours are 11am-5pm, seven days a week. Call (847) 945-0235 for further information.

Thank you!!!
